JUST AS I AM.
Opinion of The World.—"Just as I Am," Miss Braddon's latest novel, is as fresh, as wholesome, as enthralling, as amusing, as any of the stories with which, for a series of years, she has proved her title as queen of the circulating library; and the thought and polish which mark her more recent fictions in no way interfere with the verve and 'go' which originally made her reputation. 'Just as I Am' is an excellent example of the author."—The World, October 13. "None can be dull who has a novel by Miss Braddon in hand. The most tiresome journey is beguiled, and the most wearisome illness is brightened by any one of her books." London: J. and R. Maxwell, 4, Shoe-lane, Fleet-st.

JOURNAL OF THE SOCIETY OF ARTS.
"The information given in this book is so arranged as to be practically useful to those who require Designs of Furniture such as are called for by the wants of the present day."
THE ANTIQUARY.
"The introductory 'Notes on Household Furniture' which precedes the plates is an interesting and lucid summary of the chief points in the history of household furniture. We take it as a good sign in the progress of artistic furniture that this work should have been so handsomely and expensively produced, and accompanied by a well-executed sketch of what household furniture was in the past."
FURNITURE GAZETTE.
"Any complete and faithful record of the Furniture used by the masses of any country at a particular time must be of value, and such a work is now before us in the shape of a comprehensive Catalogue of Registered Designs of Colonial Furniture, as special interest attaches to this book from the fact that it forms an historical record of more than ordinary value, showing the improvements in style that have taken place from time to time. We feel sure that this enterprise will meet with commercial success as well as do a great service to the progress of art in this country."
ARCHITECTS' AND BUILDERS' TRADE REVIEW.
"Our attention has been called to one of the finest productions on Cabinet Furniture which has ever been published. Although there is such a number of Designs for Furniture in this work, yet there is no vulgar crowding, but on each page a choice selection of practical Furniture. The book is the result of very great care, and we recommend it to the attention of all those who want a reliable reference to the best kinds of Furniture."

BLANKETS.
The nights are now cold, and the season for BLANKETS has set in; before buying, have a look at our remarkable stock now under inspection. There was, last season, no mistake about our Blankets, the demand exceeded our highest anticipations, and FARMER'S GUINEA BLANKET secured a name which will not easily be forgotten, because they are of unmistakable value, unequalled for purity of wool and weight. This season we are again prepared with, not only a larger supply, but for quality, something better than ever. This has been accomplished by our buyers engaging in enormous purchases on the same terms as we are now supplying to the public—prompt net cash. We must not forget to mention, too, our extraordinary HALF-GUINEA BLANKET, which, for size and quality, is far before anything we have hitherto submitted at the price. A really good, warm, durable blanket, and price only 10s 6d per pair. Another specialty—our six and elevenpence per pair blankets for single beds. The fact is, if you wish to laugh at Boreas, or anybody else of such like distinction, you have but to purchase your blankets for this season

IMPORTANT NOTICE.
We would again specially urge upon the public the need there is for using every care TO PREVENT MAKING a MISTAKE in OUR ADDRESS. Other persons of the same surname do not scruple to copy as close as possible our style of address and advertisement, and whilst they thus acknowledge our success and high position in business, we are anxious that strangers should not be misled and suffer therefrom.
The original old-established CASH SYSTEM FIRM, who adopted this principle more than half a century ago, have ONLY ONE ADDRESS and PLACE of BUSINESS—the largest in the colonies. Ones visited never mistaken afterwards.

STEEDMAN'S SOOTHING POWDERS
FOR CHILDREN CUTTING TEETH.
CAUTION TO PURCHASERS.
The value of this well-known Family Medicine has been largely tested in all parts of the world, and by all grades of society, for upwards of FIFTY YEARS. Its well earned extensive sale has induced SPURIOUS IMITATIONS, some of which, in OUTWARD APPEARANCE, so closely resemble the original as to have deceived many purchasers. The proprietor, therefore, feels it due to the public to give a special caution against the use of such imitations.
Purchasers are therefore requested carefully to observe the four following distinctive characteristics, without which none are genuine:—
1. In every case the words JOHN STEEDMAN, Chemist, Walworth, Surrey, are engraved on the Government stamp affixed to EACH PACKET.
2. Each SINGLE POWDER has directions for the dose, and the words "John Steedman, chemist, Walworth, Surrey," printed thereon.
3. The name Steedman is always spelt with two EE's.
4. The manufacture is carried on solely at Walworth, Surrey.
Sold in packets by all Chemists and Medicine Vendors at 1s 1½d and 2s 9d each. Sold in Sydney by ELLIOTT BROTHERS.

J. S. ABRAHAM regrets that it is necessary to CAUTION the public. The immense success of my Pills—Dandelion—is continually inducing frauds and imitations to be offered; it is therefore necessary to observe that each box bears my name and registered trade mark, without which none are genuine.

Arrangements having been made for the prompt delivery of COKE, persons requiring their Winter supplies had better send in their orders at once, addressed to the STOREKEEPER, GAS-WORKS.
The present season is the most favourable for securing a rapid delivery, as later on in the winter the demand is very heavy, and, consequently, serious inconvenience is caused, by consumers having to wait their turn sometimes for several weeks.

The Tasmanian Government have instructed the captain of the schooner Isabel to search for the missing brig Bat among the Hummocks and Hunter's Islands.

In consequence of an alteration in the arrangements for his Northern tour, the Hon. P. Perkins, the Queensland Minister for Lands, did not land at Rockhampton as was anticipated, but made for Cooktown first, in order to commence at the extreme end of his tour and work southwards, consequently he was amongst the passengers on the Ranelagh.

The A. S. N. Company have advices that the Ranelagh will probably be saved if the weather holds fine. Captain Knight, with a gang of men, divers, and appliances, left on Saturday by the Governor Blackall to Brisbane, where he will tranship into the Tinonee, and go on to the Ranelagh's relief.

The barque William Turner, from Sourabaya, appears to have encountered boisterous weather on her voyage to Sydney, having been knocked about considerably in the gales she experienced. The William Turner left Sourabaya with a cargo of sugar for the Colonial Sugar Company, on March 3, and had variable winds to the 16th, being then in long. 98·9 east and lat. 18·43 south, where trouble commenced. Bad weather set in, the prevalence of violent gales and squalls necessitating a change in the movements of the vessel, which was kept before the wind in order to facilitate the work of pumping out. The tempest lasted for several hours, and appears from the log book to have only been the prelude to a succession of storms of more or less violence. On March 26, another surprise came, in the form of a storm which lasted two days, the vessel labouring heavily and shipping great quantities of water, decks being constantly flooded, so that on the 28th, in consequence of the tossing about to which the vessel had been exposed, she was found to have suddenly listed on account of the shifting of cargo on one side. This necessitated going down the forehold and shifting the cargo back again. The weather gradually subsided, and all went evenly once again up to April 13, when it blew hard for four days, with sea rising. Whilst sailing along on the 17th, with a limited surface of canvas, set to meet any sudden emergency, a squall suddenly struck the vessel, which was thoroughly prepared to meet a surprise. This soon passed away; but it is noteworthy that with respect to rough weather Captain Vandervord found on this occasion that the motto "further east further worse" was fully verified; for again on the 27th, in 123·12 E., 41 52 S., a storm of greater intensity set in, lasting for two days, when it blew hard, enormous seas breaking over the decks and filling them with water, and the ship labouring so heavily that it was impossible to work at the pumps. After a respite of a few days, during which gentle N.W. winds prevailed, and everything was put in order that had been displaced by previous assaults of the elements, another and a greater tempest ensued on May 5, accompanied by terrific squalls, with a fearful sea running. At 2 p.m. on the 3rd instant mountainous seas broke on board, carrying away the bulwarks and starting several of the stanchions on the starboard side of the main rigging. Several articles about the decks were set afloat and swept away, and the vessel laboured heavily, being literally under the water, which was now on a level with the rail. At 4 a.m. on the 5th instant the weather moderated and became more settled. Wilson's Promontory was sighted at that time, and the cautious captain was enabled to make sail, but was not permitted to pursue his course in peace very long, for the storm which prevailed along the coast on Sunday was met in its full force about noon, whilst the vessel was running under two lower topsails. At 4 p.m. on that day, in a fearful gale accompanied by terrific squalls, the William Turner laboured heavily, being under water nearly the whole time. The following night proved an anxious one, and at 7 o'clock on Monday morning the vessel was brought-to under main lower topsail and mizen staysail. The weather continued with unabated violence until Tuesday morning, when at 4 a.m., in consequence of a sudden and dangerous list of the vessel, the members of the crew were again set busily to work in shifting cargo. Subsequently the wind moderated, and under the influence of N.W. and W. breezes the vessel was enabled to reach Sydney Heads on Saturday morning, and came to anchor in Neutral Bay.

The B. H. Steenken, a German barque, from Port Chalmers, appears to have also experienced unusually adverse weather in her run to Sydney, having been 44 days in performing the voyage. But a greater portion of that time was lost attempting to clear the coast of New Zealand. After leaving Port Chalmers on April 1st it was Captain Miner's intention to come round the southern point of the island, but in consequence of head winds and strong breezes from south-west he turned back and tried to make for Cook's Straits. In this attempt, however, he was baffled by northern winds, and hove-to for two days, during which the vessel drifted eastwards, and it was decided to get round the North Island. After knocking about inside for twelve days the northern point was cleared on April 20, and the Three Kings were passed on the 23rd. On Sunday, the 7th instant, in lon. 156°, lat. 35°. The widespread gale which appears to have made its effects felt in every direction assailed the William Turner with full force. It commenced freshening up in the morning, and as rough times were anticipated, canvas was lessened, and the vessel kept sailing under lower topsails until midday, when the wind commenced to blow violently increasing to hurricane force at evening, when the fore lower topsails were split to pieces. Continuing until midnight matters grew worse, and at 1 a.m. on Monday heavy seas broke over the decks, filling them with water on a level with the railings, naturally creating much confusion and alarm amongst those on board. Towards morning it subsided considerably, and on inspection being made to ascertain the degree of injury done, it was found that some of the seams in the deck had sprung a leak. Afterwards, Captain Miner gladly experienced variable winds to arrival, and came to anchor at the higher end of Neutral Bay on Saturday morning.

The missionary vessel John Williams arrived at anchor in Woolloomooloo Bay on Saturday afternoon from Port Moresby, New Guinea. It will be remembered that the vessel left here some 50 days ago for Port Moresby, with a number of native teachers for the missionary station at New Guinea, which was reached after a pleasant fine-weather passage of 21 days. The teachers and ship's party were welcomed by the Rev. and Mrs. Chalmers and the Rev. and Mrs. Lawes, resident missionaries. The John Williams remained six days, for the purpose of discharging stores for Port Moresby. The time was passed by an inspection of the station on the part of an interested visitor, the Rev. Mr. Murray, its founder, who, it is stated, was rejoiced at finding the progress made during the past 10 years. On the return voyage, after beating down the straits, fine weather prevailed to arrival. The native teachers, we hear, appeared to be thoroughly happy upon arriving at their new field of labour. The John Williams will, it is presumed, take in fresh stores as soon as possible, and proceed to replenish stores at stations in the South Seas.

The arrivals on the 14th consisted of a brig and a barque from Hamburg. Although the dates of their departure appear to vary considerably, yet it is stated that they left Hamburg within a few days of each other, but the captain of the barque prefers to date his departure from Cuxhaven, at the mouth of the river. Captain Claassen, of the Bellona, reports having left on January 14, with fine weather. The trades were caught in 21° N., and carried to 4° N.; whilst the S.E. trades were picked up in crossing the line, on February 28, and taken to 24° S. Thence to the Cape a season of fine weather was only interrupted occasionally by slight gales. The meridian of the Cape was crossed on April 4, in 40 15 S., 25° E. The longitude was run down on the parallel of 45°. King's Island light was sighted on the 9th instant, and the vessel passed through Bass' Straits on the same day. On Friday a gale from south-west was experienced, but nothing of any consequence beyond that in the way of rough weather, as it proved moderate and fine to arrival. Captain Claassen reports having spoken the German barque Wieland in 14·54 south, 31° west, bound from Cardiff to Mazatlan Straits on the west coast of Mexico, all well.

The Queen of the South (s.), from the Macleay, brings the following cargo:—1460 bags maize, 129 pigs, 8 coops poultry, 12 cases eggs, 24 hides, 1 hogshead tallow, 5 cases sewing machines, 6 packages sundries.

The City of Grafton (s.) left Grafton at 8 a.m. on May 13, crossed the bar at 4.15 p.m., and entered Sydney Heads at 10 p.m. on the 14th instant. Experienced light easterly breezes to the South Solitary, moderate and fresh W.S.W. breezes the rest of the passage, fine weather throughout. She brings the following cargo:—1188 bags maize, 16 casks molasses, 700 bags tin ore, 46 hides, 10 bags oysters, 5 bales skins, 875 ingots tin, 14 cases eggs, 50 bales wool, 6 coops towls, 30 hogsheads rum, 1 horse, 1650 bunches bananas, and sundries.

Captain Henrichson, of the German barque Tellus, from Hamburg, dates his departure from Cuxhaven on January 31, meeting with easterly winds through the North Sea and down the English Channel. Passed the Lizard on February 3, and experienced variable winds to Madeira. The Equator was crossed on February 27, after a run down with fair trades, the S.E. trades being taken on the 28th, and lost in 28° south. The meridian of the Cape was passed on April 1, and the easting was run down between the parallels of 44° and 48°, an occasional gale enlivening matters during the run. Tasmania was rounded on the 5th instant, and on the 7th a perfect hurricane was encountered, commencing early in the day, from N.W. It slackened at midday, and after two hours of moderate weather, the wind veered round suddenly to S.W., and a storm ensued, accompanied by terrific squalls, the sea sweeping mercilessly over the vessel, carrying away the large lifeboat like a feather, and doing damage to the bulwarks. The weather moderated on the Monday, and from that time remained more settled to arrival, the vessel coming to anchor yesterday afternoon at Neutral Bay.

THE WRECK OF THE S.S. RANELAGH.

[By Telegraph.]

(From our own Correspondent.)

Brisbane, Sunday.

A Cooktown telegram states that the steamer Ranelagh left Townsville at 4.30 on Wednesday afternoon. The next morning, at about half-past 1, she struck on King's Reef, about 24 miles from the South Johnson River and three from North Barnard Island. The vessel [redacted] steaming 13 knots, and ran right up on a flat shelf. The passengers waited for daylight with great anxiety, and early on Thursday morning they were in a position of great danger, anticipating that the vessel would slide off into deep water, as the Gothenburg did. At 11 a.m. the passengers requested the Hon. P. Perkins to take measures for their safety. Captain Hill directed the chief officer, Mr. Nicholls, to land them on North Barnard Island, three miles distant, which was accomplished with difficulty at about noon, when there were 14 feet of water in the fore and 8 feet in the after hold. A strong south-easterly breeze was blowing and a heavy sea running. The Gunga (s.) hove in sight at 3 in the afternoon and took off the passengers, but the mails could not be found. The Ranelagh was steaming 13 knots, and all available sails were set when she struck. The shock is described as terrific. The second-officer and captain were both on the bridge, and it is said that the vessel was reported as being in broken water some time prior to striking, but no notice was taken of it. The Ranelagh lies about one mile inside the outer edge of the reef, firmly fixed. It has since been reported that the fore and after holds are full of water, which is flowing in and out. It is impossible to say whether the vessel could be got off, but all the cargo that is not perishable can be recovered. King's Reef was the scene of the stranding of the Boomerang, eight years ago. The Ranelagh was about two miles out of the course ordinarily taken, but about four and a half miles from that recommended in the Admiralty chart. The Gunga sails on Sunday morning, taking the mails. Another account says that the vessel did not strike heavily at first, but ran several times her length on the reef, bumping, and finally stopped, hard and fast. The mails and luggage are recovered all right. Mr. Williams, the Queensland manager of the company, returned to Cardwell from the wreck. The Tinonee leaves here to-morrow morning to meet the Governor Blackall in the bay, and tranship the materials and men which have been sent up in charge of Captain Knight, marine superintendent, who also takes a large number of tanks and hogsheads procured here, and proceeds immediately to the scene of the wreck.

Later.

A Townsville telegram says that the Ranelagh went ashore on the eastern side of King's Reef. On reversing the engines to go astern the propeller blades were carried away. The Porpoise, on her way from Johnson River and Mourilligan Harbour on Friday afternoon, with Mr. W. Williams, A. S. N. Co.'s Queensland manager, on board, saw the steamer and hauled alongside, when it was found that water was flowing in and out of the fore hold, but otherwise little damage was done. The engine-room and other compartments were free of water. The Porpoise took aboard the mails, passengers, luggage, cabin fittings, and ship's stores, and proceeded to Cardwell, where they were transhipped into the steamer Victory, which returned to Townsville. Mr. Williams immediately wired a full detailed account to the head office. Mr. Williams remains at Cardwell with the Porpoise in constant communication with the wreck. The reef consists apparently of boulders and rotten coral, so the vessel is in an upright position, as if docked. It is expected that by prompt provision being made the vessel can be floated if the weather continues favourable.

The Sydney Morning Herald.

MONDAY, MAY 15, 1882.

Some time back we published a telegram from London reporting an interview between Lord Kimberley and a deputation from the British and Colonial Union on the subject of the Imperial wine duties. A full report of the proceedings has been sent out by the London correspondent of the Melbourne Argus. The report serves to show some of the difficulties of the position in which the British Government, desiring to please everybody, would be placed, and the want of agreement between some of the demands that are made and the principles which the claimants profess. The first speaker was Sir Henry Holland, who, after stating the general case, put the request of the deputation in the following form: "Generally speaking, the alteration that was sought was somewhat in this direction—keeping up the uniform rate of 1s. per gallon for wine not exceeding 26 degrees, but instead of leaping at once from 1s. to 2s. 6d., that there should be a sliding scale of 1d. for every degree above 26." The deputation comprised representatives of other colonies than those of Australia, and Mr. Soper, President of the South African Association, spoke on behalf of the Cape. He said:—"The natural wine of the Cape was about 28 or 29 degrees, which, according to Sykes's hydrometer, would give from 31 to 34 degrees. If, therefore, it was necessary for our revenue to maintain an alcoholic test, what they proposed was that the line should be drawn with reference to the fact that there were naturally strong wines as well as naturally weak wines. A proposal has been made that wines up to the strength of 20 degrees should be taxed at the rate of 6d. per gallon, and that from that strength up to 35 degrees there should be an extra penny per gallon, and after that 2½d. per gallon for every degree beyond. With all respect to those who suggested that proposal, he wished to point out that if that were carried out vine cultivators at the Cape might as well be as they were. The natural strength of the wines of France was 18 degrees, and if they can come in at 6d. per gallon, while the Cape wines, being 33 degrees would have to pay 1s. 6d. or 1s. 7d., they would be no better off than they were at present. He therefore hoped that the arrangement suggested by Sir Henry Holland would be considered—that the uniform duty should be 1s. per gallon up to 26 degrees, and that after that the wines should be taxed upon a sliding scale which might be easily adjusted so as not to have such a serious leap as from 1s. to 2s. 6d." The point to be noticed here is the request that the minimum of 1s. should be retained, and that no concession should be granted to wines below 26 degrees, whilst a graduated scale for wines of more than 26 degrees is asked for on grounds of justice. Mr. Montefiore, for instance, remarked that "all the colonies asked for was fair play and no favour." This opposition to the suggested 6d. duty, which would admit light wines from France at a low rate, is a demand for protection upon Mr. Soper's own showing. The argument of the deputation is that France is now protected against the colonies by the higher rates of duty, which have to be paid upon some of the colonial wines. But Mr. Soper says in effect: "Retain the 1s. duty as a minimum to protect us against French competition." If it were said that by going below the 26 degrees, and 1s. duty, wines from France would enter at a lower rate than wines from the colonies, the answer would be that under the scheme proposed by the deputation itself wines from some colonies and from certain districts in some colonies would be admitted at lower rates than wines from other colonies and other districts. If once this principle of varying the duty with the degree of alcoholic strength be set up, it prevents the placing of the products of different countries and different vineyards, varying in strength, on the same footing. We have long recognized the force of the claim to a finer adjustment, on the ground of equity. But if it be too great a leap from 26 degrees to 42 and from 1s. to 2s. 6d., and intermediate stages of strength and charge are justly called for, why start from 26 degrees and a 1s. duty when there are vast quantities of wine, ranging downwards from 26 degrees to 18 or lower, ready to be sent into the country at cheap rates if they could enter at a proportionately lower duty? As it appears, the advocates of the scheme proposed by Sir Henry Holland are hardly prepared to apply in behalf of others the principle they want to see adopted in their own interests. There is also another aspect in which the question should be considered. France under the new fiscal law concedes to England the advantages of the most favoured nation, but does not extend those advantages to the British colonies. This is considered by colonists as a hardship. A hardship it may be, and yet have a foundation of justice (on the French theory) in the fact that the colonies deal more harshly than England does with French products. But apart from that argument, what audacity should we show in claiming from France to be admitted to the privileges of the most favoured nation, and at the same time protesting against the adoption by England in the interests of France of a principle which we are urging England to adopt for our advantage. Happily the deputation was not officially of a representative character, and the colonies are not committed by the action of its members.

The Victorian Premier adjourned the Assembly on receipt of the news of the murder of Lord Frederick Cavendish and Mr. Burke. He did so by way of expressing the sympathy of the Victorian Government and Parliament with the Government of the mother country, and their abhorrence of political assassination. As the Victorian Parliament was the only one then in session, Sir Bryan O'Loghlen claimed that he might in that matter act representatively for the whole of Australia. We have no doubt that he expressed correctly the feelings that would animate every Australian Legislature. Happily for us, our political party has never become so envenomed as to make political assassination a conceivable thing. A few low fellows occasionally threaten personal violence, but even that has been repented of and apologised for. Murder, as a weapon of party tactics, is with us happily unknown, and it is difficult to exaggerate the abhorrence which is felt at such a crime. Irishmen in Australia have been the foremost in denouncing it, and certain it is that there is no political party, however small, amongst us who would venture to defend it. The hope of popular institutions in the future lies in the triumph of freedom and political morality. Without that support these institutions must necessarily be unstable; and therefore every man is a traitor to the popular cause who, instead of making the right triumph in virtue of its being right, and convincing the judgment and the conscience, tries to make a short cut to its end by the barbarous method of assassination. That such a method must fail is a matter of certainty. But it is not merely its failure that is to be deprecated; it is the introduction of a false and ruinous method into political discussion.

The only demur to the action taken by Sir Bryan O'Loghlen came from Mr. Berry, who complained that it was not enough, and who wanted an address in which should be incorporated some advice to Mr. Gladstone not to be led astray from his conciliatory policy by this recent act of violence. Mr. Francis, with more good sense, pointed out how very injudicious it would be for a colonial Assembly to interfere with the domestic politics of the mother country. No member supported Mr. Berry's view, and therefore he does not at present seem to lead either the House or any considerable section of it. There can be no doubt that it would be very unwise for our colonial Parliaments to lecture the mother country as to its interior administration. In the first place, we are not in possession of all the information which would warrant us in advising intelligently; and in the second place, we should be stepping beyond our proper province if we undertook to govern where we had no responsibility. Mr. Berry himself would have been one of the first to resent any interference on the part of the House of Commons with our domestic legislation, supposing a resolution had been passed there condemning his unconciliatory language and measures during his reform agitation, and deprecating the social war which he endeavoured to set up. How he would have declaimed against this interference with colonial self-government by the mother country, and told the English politicians to mind their own business! He should learn in his turn to respect the self-government of the United Kingdom. Of course, we are all interested in English and Irish affairs. But so are Englishmen and Irishmen interested in colonial affairs. If we are to value self-government, and to practise it, we must respect each other's freedom.

In regard to Egypt the worst predictions are apparently being fulfilled. The news from that country which we have been receiving during the last few days clearly points to a probable revolution. According to latest accounts, which we publish this morning, the Chamber of Notables refuses to meet at the bidding of the Ministry, and is giving support to the Khedive, who refuses to negotiate with the rebels. The present Khedive, like his predecessors, is unequal to the task of governing a country where, perhaps, more than anywhere else, there is a conflict between civilization and barbarism. The causes of Tewfik's failure, however, are very different from those which led to the fall and banishment of Ismail. The troubles of the latter came from intrigue, those of the former are the result of weakness. The policy of Ismail was to aggrandise himself. He taxed the fellaheen to the last point of endurance, and spent the money not in paying his debts, but in buying land and in building palaces. The Government of Ismail had neither dignity nor honour. So far as is known, Tewfik has done his utmost to undo the mischief wrought by his father, but his utmost has been insufficient. If he has not fulfilled his European obligations, it has not been proved that he has placed any obstacle in the way of their being fulfilled by others.

During the reign of Ismail the bondholders of England and France fared badly. That potentate too busily looked after himself to have leisure to be able to attend to his European creditors. The substitution of Tewfik for Ismail was intended to be the inauguration of a new order of things. An English and a French controller were appointed to attend to the service of the debt; and to be able to see that the bondholders were paid, it was necessary that the controllers should have a voice in the management of the Egyptian finances generally. They could not, of course, guarantee the payment of the creditors unless they had power to prevent the expenditure of the revenue in other ways. The object for which the controllers were appointed has been for the most part accomplished. The bondholders have fared much better under the reign of Tewfik than they fared under that of Ismail. But the peace of the country is even less secure. A new class of troubles has cropped up. Formerly it was complained that the fellaheen were crushed for the sake of the Khedive, now the grievance is that they are taxed for the sake of the bondholders.

There is even a greater trouble than this. The foreign controllers are looked upon pretty much as foreign rulers. So far as the finances are concerned, this is what they have claimed to be. It is complained that the people of Egypt produce the revenue, and that the officials of England and France claim to spend it. This state of things a large section of Egyptian officials have pronounced intolerable, and one of the objects of the so-called Nationalist party is to put an end to it. The struggle in Egypt is very largely a struggle for home rule. Tewfik himself, of course, is utterly unequal to a contest of so much difficulty, even if he were willing to undertake it, and for that reason the business has been taken in hand by Arabi. The latter protests that, for the present at least, he does not wish to get rid of the control, but his ultimate purpose is to secure that Egypt is ruled by the Egyptians. The impression is that if Egypt is reformed, it must be by the army.

The army has made several attempts, and has so far succeeded as to make itself master of the situation. Arabi Bey, the leader of the Nationalist movement, has found himself strong enough to secure the appointment of Ministers and their dismissal. For some time past he has been a Minister himself, and, as it would now seem, he aspires to be Khedive. A few weeks ago a number of Circassians, prompted, it is said by Ismail, who wished to take advantage of the existing troubles to secure his restoration, conspired to kill Arabi, who was supposed to stand in the way of Ismail's ambition. The sentence of exile passed on the would-be assassins has been commuted by the Khedive into imprisonment for life. The result is something like an insurrection. A movement, headed by the Ministers, has been started to depose the Khedive, and a meeting of the Chamber of Notables was called without his sanction. The Notables, however, refuse to meet. In anticipation of an émeute English and French ironclads have been summoned to Alexandria, the belief being that in the absence of intervention the deposition of Tewfik in favour of Arabi is inevitable It is probable that the Powers will support the present Khedive, or appoint a new one, who is not likely to be Arabi. The appearance of the two Powers at Alexandria at all, however, may be a signal for other troubles in Egypt and fresh complications elsewhere. It has been stated that the Powers are in favour of making Halim the successor of Tewfik, and of an occupation of Egypt by the French, which would be a turn of events that England could not possibly regard with approval.

It will occur to many people who have read the report of Buckley's case that Sir George Innes might have abstained with advantage from remarking upon "the standing disgrace" caused by "many of the sentences passed by benches of magistrates in cases of wife-beating." The opinion he expressed as to the action of the magistrates was founded upon reports of the cases to which he referred; and most people who form an opinion upon the action of Sir George Innes in Buckley's case will say that he should have reserved his censure upon the magistrates to a time when he was not exposing himself to a similar judgment. Here is a case in which a man, inflaming himself with drink, provokes his friend and then his wife into dispute, and afterwards causes his wife's death, according to his own confession, by "an ugly blow." The Judge sentences him to imprisonment for one month, because he thinks that light sentence will be sufficient to cause him to "realize his position." Can it be said that Sir George Innes realized his position, or acted under any adequate sense of the sacredness of human life, and the meaning of the law which is intended to punish those who take it and to deter others? The Judge's idea seems to be that the only thing required is to wake the offender up to a knowledge that he has done wrong, and that his punishment and the warning of others are matters of no importance. In the same column that contains this report it is stated that at the Central Police Court on the same day a man convicted of stealing a coat was sentenced to four months' imprisonment. Was this a "disgrace," or an act of justice? The Judge's implied dislike to wife-beaters will have little influence upon them if he shows, as on this occasion, that under certain circumstances he is prepared to treat the offence, even when its commission leads to loss of life, more lightly than ordinary magistrates will treat a common case of petty larceny.

Inspector Seymour brought another batch of delinquents to court upon Friday last, charged with offences that sicken decency, and go far to disprove that civilization and cleanliness are always found hand in hand. The people charged were keepers of boarding-houses, their offence—filth. The state of things described is almost incredible to people who have not sought confirmation of the evidence by personal inspection. Filth seems to have been the natural order; soap and water and cleanliness were unknown. One place is described at length in the report. It was "a common lodging-house; the floor of the first room had the appearance of not having been washed for months; the floor was covered with mud and filth; the second room was used as a dining as well as a sleeping room; there were rotten meat and decomposed vegetable matter lying about on the tables and floor; the closet was full and disgusting; the yard was covered with filth; the blankets in the rooms were black with dirt, the sheets covered with fæcal matter; some of the beds were completely eaten into holes by filth; there were several men there, drunk and filthy; the stench arising was very sickening." It is not difficult to realize that it was very sickening, the cause for surprise is that its results in sickness, fever, or pestilence of some description were not visible as itself. Disease must be bred in such conditions. From one such den vitiated air may be spread through a thousand homes. Small-pox may be brought to us in any ship from any port of the world, may remain inert or dormant till quickened and awakened by such congenial influences as this. Germs of fever or cholera may float harmlessly in the air till brought down by the scent of such a rich feeding ground. The people who keep the place may not suffer—they seldom do suffer; possibly they are so armour-plated with filth that the disease that attacks and kills cleanly folk passes them by in disgust; but it is quite a mistake to say that they have a right to do as they like with their own, that if filth suits them they should be permitted to enjoy filth, that their boarders do not stay with them on compulsion and are at liberty to quit whenever their tastes are not suited. People might nurse any crime on a similar pretext, and filthy habits in a great city are no less a crime than any common form of felony. It is difficult for cleanly people to understand how human beings can choose to live in such a state; it is also impossible for those whose duty it is to rule the city to allow them to remain so in it. Cleanliness is as essential as order to the well-being of a community, and should be maintained if necessary with as strong a hand. The simple rules of cleanliness are the very A B C of humanity's lessons; they are only ignored by men who have sunk a little lower even than healthy well-fed brutes. Inspector Seymour should prosecute his work with vigour in this direction, and might with advantage have some aid in the task, or his "discoveries" may continue his whole life long.

NEWS OF THE DAY.

Mr. Gladstone, who has hitherto held the joint offices of First Lord of the Treasury and Chancellor of the Exchequer, is (according to an announcement made by the Daily News) about to resign the latter. What with the Irish and Egyptian questions, the right hon. gentleman no doubt finds his hands somewhat too full at present to be able to attend to two such important offices as those named.

The threatened interposition by the Powers seems to have failed to overawe the revolutionary party in Egypt, although the Ministry are now said to be wavering. The Chamber of Deputies, which was summoned to meet for business by the Ministry, refuses to assemble. It is giving support to the Khedive, who, thus encouraged, refuses to negotiate with the rebels. Arabi Bey, the Minister for War, appears to be resolved upon deposing Prince Tewfik, with the aid of the army. But the European Powers seem equally resolved that Arabi shall not have his way. English and French ironclads have, it is understood, been ordered to Alexandria, to be in readiness in case of a revolution: whilst the British Channel squadron is under orders to be ready in a fortnight's time to proceed to the Mediterranean. Altogether Egyptian affairs have just now a very gloomy aspect.

From the fact of a canister of blasting powder being found outside the Mansion House, London, it is inferred that another attempt to blow up a portion of the building was intended to be made by some evil designed persons. A timely discovery, however, frustrated their plans.

Mr. Leonard H. Courtney, who has been appointed Financial Secretary to the Imperial Treasury in room of the late Lord Frederick Cavendish, is the eldest son of Mr. John Sampson Courtney, banker, of Penzance. In 1851 he was called to the bar at Lincoln's Inn. In 1872 he was appointed to the Chair of Political Economy at University College, London, but relinquished that office three years later, with a view of making a lengthened visit to India. For two years he was Examiner in Constitutional History in the University of London. In 1876 he was elected, in the Liberal interest, member for Liskeard. He is the author of several works on finance, and for many years has been a regular contributor to the Times.

Sir Henry Parkes and his daughter have had the distinguished honour of being presented at Court.

Sir Samuel Wilson is about to give fresh evidence of his loyalty by the erection of a window in Hughenden Church to commemorate the recent escape of her Majesty the Queen from the hands of an assassin.

On Saturday, at the invitation of the Ministers, a large party of gentlemen, including several of the Ministers, the Chief Justice, and a number of members of Parliament, left Sydney by special train on an excursion to the Blue Mountains and the Lithgow Valley Zig Zag. It was expected that Mr. Archibald Forbes would be present, and some disappointment was felt at his absence; but he wrote to say that, feeling unwell that morning, he could not avail himself of the invitation. His absence gave rise at luncheon time to a little badinage. The party spent a very pleasant day, and returned to town by half-past 6 in the evening.

In addition to the information recently communicated to us on the subject of the missing brig Bat, we understand that news has been received by cablegram by the Government here from the Government of Tasmania, to the effect that the schooner Isabelle left Port Levin a day or two ago, and that the captain had promised to search the Hummocks and Hunter Islands for traces of the missing vessel.

Typhoid fever has been very prevalent in Sydney during the past month. Some of the private practitioners have a large number of cases under their care, and there are at the present time no less than thirty patients in the Sydney Hospital suffering from the malignant disease. Only one case has, we are informed, arisen within the walls of the institution, the patient being a nurse. In connection with the large number of cases of typhoid fever, there are one or two circumstances which will doubtless cause the public to feel somewhat uneasy. The first is that the wards of the hospital are quite overcrowded; the second, that typhoid fever patients are not kept apart from patients suffering from other diseases; and the third is that, by reason of the overcrowded state of the institution, persons who have recently applied to be admitted have been turned away. In order to relieve the pressure upon the wards of the hospital, the late Captain Towns' house at Miller's Point, and which was lately used as a residence for the small-pox doctors, has been secured, and we understand it is being fitted up with as much expedition as possible. It is to be hoped that the committee entrusted with the responsibility of preparing this auxiliary hospital will realize the necessity for pushing on with their operations.

The South Australian Jockey Club's Autumn Meeting terminated on Saturday. The Goodwood Handicap was won by Result, the Hurdle Race by Jack, the Steeplechase by Stag, the S. A. J. C. Handicap by Pollio, and the Corinthian Cup by Mesalliance.

The injury which, according to correspondence received recently by Mr. Henry Austin and Messrs. Geddes Brothers, is being done to this port by the bad manner in which wool shipped from it is packed and pressed, is considered to be of so serious a nature that it is probable the entire question of packing and shipping will be brought before the Chamber of Commerce on an early date. It is noteworthy that the faults complained of cannot be regarded as novel. Similar complaints were made many years ago. In a circular issued by Mr. Austin in 1873, there occurs the following passage:—"Attention has been called by Messrs. Jacomb, Son, and Co., in their circular of the 31st May, to the injurious effects of dumping or pressing on wool shipped from Sydney. Three years ago, Messrs. Mort and Co., in their August report, touched upon the same subject without effecting, apparently, any amelioration in the system. The evil lies not so much in the dumping as in the original packages, which to save woolpacks and steamer freight, are made so immoderately large as to ensure instant collapse the moment any additional pressure is applied. If New South Wales and Queensland squatters would only pack their wools on the Victorian plan, in small compact bales, they would, it is true, use more woolpacks; but as Messrs. Jacomb point out, they would secure the competition of the dealers, who object to have unsightly packages in their warehouses. Not a few of the complaints of the loss in weight may possibly be traceable to the frequent breakage by the required pressure of packages that will not, in many instances, bear even the strain of the journey from the station to Sydney undumped." In September last Mr. Austin, in a letter which appeared in this journal, returned to the subject. In this it was stated that on the Continent complaints were loud and deep as to the appearance of New South Wales bales on their arrival in Europe. Again it was suggested that smaller bales should be used, and that the packing should be performed with greater care. The best friends of the port are of opinion that it would be well if the reform, which evidently is needed, commenced in the shearing sheds, where the wool is packed. From this point it would be advantageous if greater care in the work of conveying the wool to the port were exercised. When here, ready for sale or shipment, it would be the brokers' or stevedores' business to do their share of the work properly. It is hinted that in connection with the wool trade a false system of economy prevails in this colony. The charges are low, and the work, consequently, is often badly performed. In Melbourne the woolgrowers' bills for port expenses, &c., are heavier, but a corresponding benefit, in the shape of extra precaution, is procured.

The missionary schooner John Williams arrived in Port Jackson on Saturday afternoon from Port Moresby. She left here about 50 days ago with a number of native teachers for New Guinea, and arrived there after a pleasant passage of 21 days. The teachers, who were welcomed by the Rev. Mr. and Mrs. Chalmers and the Rev. Mr. Lawes, appeared to be thoroughly happy upon arriving at the scene of their missionary labours. The John Williams was at Port Moresby six or seven days.

From the account in our shipping column of the grounding of the A.S.N. Co.'s new steamer Ranelagh, on King's Reef, Northern Queensland, it seems that no irreparable damage has been suffered, and that, with favourable weather, the vessel may be floated off. Men have been despatched from Brisbane to the scene of the disaster to save the steamer if possible. Fortunately the mails have been recovered. Captain Knight, with a gang of men, divers, and appliances, left Sydney on Saturday by the Governor Blackall for Brisbane, where they will tranship into the Tinonee, (s.), and proceed to the scene of the disaster.

A meeting of the Drapers' Association, adjourned from the 3rd instant, was held at the Coffee Tavern, Pitt-street, on Thursday evening. The code of rules, which had been the subject of much debate and careful consideration, was passed through its final stage, adopted, and ordered to be printed. The association is making substantial if not rapid progress, and the need for its existence is more generally recognized. During the frequent sittings, and occasionally protracted discussions relating to the rules and other preparatory work, an earnest desire has been manifested that the society's operations should be based upon a broad and firm foundation, and its benefits real and lasting.

A social and entertaining reunion of the Masonic craft took place in the Masonic Hall, York-street, under the auspices of the Lodge Zetland of Australia, 655, E.C. In the unavoidable absence of R.W. Bro. J. Williams, D.G.M., his Deputy V.W. Bro. H. Westcott attended to honour the meeting with his presence. The proceedings commenced with a vocal and instrumental concert, which went off with great eclat. Bro. H. Maclean acted as accompanist, and Bro. Garland as conductor. After the concert the hall was cleared for dancing. Mr. C. Hall's quadrille band was engaged to carry out the ball to a successful issue. Bro. Harry V. Hall acted as M.C. Mr. Callagan was the caterer.

The Insurance and Banking Record says:—"There was a statement lately made in London to the effect that an amalgamation of several banks connected with India was in contemplation, and the Oriental Bank Corporation was named as one of them. The rumour has found its way to the Melbourne press. We are in a position to state that there are no grounds whatever for the supposition. The report has probably arisen from the fact of the banks connected with India having had several meetings lately in London, in order to establish certain changes in the mode of purchasing bills of exchange, and other matters of business on which there was an absence of uniform practice."

On Friday afternoon last, Mr. James Green, of St. Michael's School, Fitzroy-street, Surry Hills, was presented with an eggstand and purse, together with a neatly-written address, on the eve of his departure from the school. The present was given by the children as a token of their esteem of their late master. Mr. Green returned thanks in suitable terms, and expressed his regret at leaving the place where he had laboured for the past 15 years.

The infant son of Mr. John Lack, residing at No. 13, Marian street, Pyrmont, was found dead in bed at half-past 4 o'clock yesterday morning. Deceased was a weakly child, had recently been prescribed for by a doctor, but appeared, it is said, to have been in a fair state of health on Saturday.

A labourer named John Reed, residing at No. 3 Little Washington-street, off Sussex-street, died suddenly about 5 o'clock on Saturday morning. When he retired to bed at about 10 o'clock on Friday evening he appeared to be in good health, but shortly before 4 o'clock next morning he got out of bed, and returned a few minutes after. His wife observed that he was then in convulsions. Death took place a few minutes later. An inquest was held by the City Coroner at the Lighthouse Hotel, Sussex-street, on Saturday afternoon, when a verdict was returned that death arose from natural causes.

The axle of the hind wheel of a hackney carriage suddenly broke while the vehicle was proceeding along William-street at 8 o'clock last evening. The horses thereupon plunged and kicked, and the life of the driver was for a few minutes in great peril. When the axle broke, the driver, a man named Coe, was thrown off the box; he, however, caught hold of the hand-rail, and, retaining possession of the reins, kept the horses as well under control as he could. It was feared that the horses would cause the vehicle to turn over on its side, but two men prevented that from occurring by getting hold of the horses' heads. The animals were then unharnessed and driven to the stables of the proprietor of the vehicle.

An old woman named Margaret Letty, who formerly resided at Rushcutter Bay, was found sitting in a gutter near the Woollahra police station on Saturday morning. As she was quite helpless and almost pulseless she was conveyed to the hospital. On Saturday afternoon a man named Robert Wilson was found in William-street suffering from wounds on his face. Wilson was also taken to the hospital. Yesterday Ernest Lawrence, of Five Dock, who had received some bruises and injured his hip by falling into a tank, and John Moffitt, of Gladesville, who had received a fracture of one of his legs, were admitted into the institution.

The Paris correspondent of the Times writes on March 29:—"The Compulsory Education Bill is promulgated. The Clerical organs are divided as to how it should be confronted. Some advocate universal resistance, backed by local lay committees. Others suggest a vigilant supervision of its working, so as to give publicity to every case of violation of religious neutrality by a schoolmaster—in other words, every case where the education, instead of non-religious, becomes irreligious. Others, again, or, at least, the Monde, the mouthpiece of the Nuncio and the Archbishop of Paris, deprecate lay interference, insisting that it is for the bishops to prescribe how far the law is to be obeyed or resisted. All these papers agree in observing a significant silence as to any idea of starting opposition schools. It should be borne in mind that for several years to come the deficiency of lay teachers will necessitate the continued employment of monks and nuns, unless, indeed, as one of the reactionary senators threatened, they should refuse to act in schools from which religious teaching is to be excluded."

Miss Furnieux's frauds (observes the Daily News) were said by cynical observers to have shown for the first time the practical value of the information to be found in the "Peerage." If her dupes had known that Lord Arthur Clinton could not by any possibility be the heir of the Earl of Lanesborough, they might have kept their money in their pockets. The case of Newman v. Goodwin, which was tried recently before Mr. Justice Lopes, illustrates and enforces the less dubious advantage of an acquaintance with the rules of orthography. The action was one of libel, and the defendant denied having written the letters on which the action was founded. These documents consisted in friendly warnings addressed to various persons against dealing with the plaintiff. They were anonymous and slanderous, and the only remarkable point about them was their spelling, which again was only remarkable when compared with the efforts in that kind made by the defendant himself in the witness-box. Bad or loose spellers are rarely consistent, but Mr. Goodwin both by precept and example indicates it to be his opinion that "sorry" should be written "sorrey," and "careful" cairful." In dealing with the word "sure" his practice varies. The jury found for the plaintiff, and gave him four hundred pounds by way of damages. But it is at least doubtful whether such a verdict could have been given if the letters had been spelt in the orthodox fashion. It is of course very questionable morality to learn to spell in order that one may write libels without danger of being found out, and we have always doubted the discretion of reminding Rush the murderer, as Baron Rolfe did, that if a certain person had been Mrs. Rush in the eye of the law he would probably not have been convicted. But the value of education is so loudly asserted and so faintly felt, that even a side-light thrown upon its merits is welcome.

This (writes the Daily News of March 17) is the condition in which St. Patrick's Day finds St. Patrick's adopted country. An armed rebellion is threatened, and unmanly cruelties far worse than open and legitimate warfare are things, to put it mildly, of weekly occurrence. The people of Ireland may not enjoy this state of things, but they dare not or will not utter a word or move a finger to alter it. The two Malonidæ are almost alone in their resistance to lawless force. Probably they will be let alone for the future; they have shown, it seems, that they are of the spirit of "little Jock Elliot," in the song, who cried "Who dare meddle with me?" We do not know whether any good would be done by rewarding Irish peasants, who, in authenticated cases, have shown this unusual courage, and dared to defend themselves. No attempts to minimise the statistics of violent crime are successful. There may be a lull now and then, things may seem to be no worse for a few weeks, but they are certainly no better. As Mr. Justice Fitzgerald said, a number of people must have witnessed the Rathdowney murder. No one will give evidence. Does the English flag fly over an acre of land from Canada to the Ganges, from Hongkong to the Cape, where the Queen's subjects are of this temper? Supposing trial by jury suppressed to-morrow, how could evidence be obtained? Does any Irish magistrate or any Indian civilian know an answer to that question? The Russian police do, perhaps, but we can scarcely return to the primitive methods said to be employed by the Russian police, and certainly employed in the days of Cecil and Bacon.

SIR HENRY PARKES IN ENGLAND.

[By Cable.]
(From our special correspondent.)

LONDON, May 12.

Sir Henry Parkes and his daughter have been presented at Court.

AMUSEMENTS.

THEATRE ROYAL.

"New Babylon," which had such a successful run two years ago at the Victoria Theatre, where it was first played in Australia, was produced at the Theatre Royal on Saturday evening, in the presence of a densely crowded house. A considerable proportion of the Sydney theatre-going public are already acquainted with the highly sensational and spectacular characteristics of this drama, and nearly the whole of the principal characters were sustained by the same performers as on the occasion of its former production. Miss Jenny Watt-Tanner played the dual part of Eunice and Bel Lorimer with considerable ability. Mr. Bland Holt, as Flotsam, the detective; Mr. H. Vincent, as John Ramirez; Mr. J. L. Hall, as Ezra Lazareck; Miss Julia Merton, who "was a fine lady once," as the outcast; and Mr. St. Lawrence, as John Jeremiah Lamb, were as successful as ever. Among the other principal characters may be mentioned: Ah Luck, the Chinaman, Mr. J. Tolano: Hiram Maltby, the wealthy shipbuilder, Mr. W. Seagrave; Madge Maltby, Miss Lena Ellis; The O'Sligo, Mr. C. Holloway; Jack Randall, Mr. H. S. Jordan: and Tiny Spurts, the jockey, Mr. H. Beverley. The scenic effects throughout—particularly in the collision scene—were very good, and, judging from the demonstrative approval of the audience, the play will have a long run.

QUEEN'S THEATRE.

At the Queen's Theatre on Saturday night a sensational play entitled "Struck Gold" was produced. This drama, which has been recently performed in Sydney, is a curious mixture of Californian and French life, but is very effectively written. The principal characters were sustained by Mr. Burdett Howe, Miss Julia Hayward, and Miss Marian Willis.

VICTORIA HALL.

The Mohawk Minstrels opened to a crowded house at the Victoria Hall on Saturday evening. The company comprises Mr. Dave Gardner (tambo), Mr. Billy Saunders (bones), Messrs. R. M'Donald, J. Angelo, G. Leslie, E. Delowry, Greydon, Mulholland, and G. Bell and others. In addition to the minstrel songs, Mr. George Bell appeared in female characters. Messrs. Delowry, Greydon, and Mulholland gave a clever statue clog dance, and two or three amusing farces were performed.

"Gov'nor" was successfully repeated at the Opera House on Saturday evening; and "Mad" is still being played at the Gaiety Theatre.

A concert was given in St. Mary's Cathedral on Saturday evening by Mr. Hallewell's Glee Club, assisted by Mrs. Fred. J. Riley and other lady and gentlemen amateurs. The programme consisted principally of English glees and Irish songs, and was carried out successfully. Amongst the more noticeable numbers were the solos "Kathleen Mavourneen," by Mrs. Riley, and "Nazareth," by Mr. Hallewell, the motet "Methinks I hear the full Celestial Choir"—the solo being successfully rendered by Mr. Hallewell—and the catch "Would you know my Celia's Charms." The last named was sung so effectively as to provoke much laughter and a recall. The quartette of singers essayed to respond by again singing the catch; but the laughter which had been started by the audience, extended to the singers, who seemed to be so full of merriment that they had to relinquish their intention of giving further publicity to Celia's charms.

Of theatrical doings in Melbourne, our correspondent telegraphs:—"The Montague-Turner Opera Company are having an extraordinarily successful run, the Bijou being crowded nightly. Mr. Farley announces that he has 'seceded' from the company. Mr. Barrington, a stranger to Melbourne theatre-goers, has been engaged to fill his place. At the Royal, Mr. Dampier has appeared in 'The Green Lanes of England' to a good house. At the Princess', 'Jo,' with Jennie Lee in the principal rôle, appears to hit the public taste. At the Opera House, Messrs. Wybert Reeve and Larkins are playing a comedy season, 'London Assurance' being at present on the boards. Mr. Keller is doing a fair business at St. George's Hall. A monster musical festival was held at the Town Hall on Saturday evening in aid of the Mansion House Fund for the persecuted Jews in Russia. There was a large attendance."

Our Adelaide correspondent telegraphs that Miss Pomeroy appeared in "East Lynne" at the Theatre Royal on Saturday night before a good audience.

WAVERLEY AND WOOLLAHRA TRAM TRAFFIC.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE HERALD.

Sir,—While quite agreeing with your correspondent, Mr. Fairland, referring to open tram cars and the horrible dust nuisance to which travellers by the above line have been subject during the past twelve months, I do not think he goes far enough when he stops at Begg-street. If his remarks apply to the grievance to this point, I think that those who travel further have still greater cause of complaint, as the weather is still more severe and the dust very much worse between Begg-street and the Waverley terminus. I think that, considering the very handsome return upon this particular investment, the comfort and convenience of those who travel should receive more consideration from the gentlemen at the head of this department.

About six months ago, the residents of Waverley were promised that a loop-line would be laid immediately at Vernon-street, which would enable those weary after a hard day's work to have an earlier tea, and remove the nuisance of having to wait at the tanks, exposed to the cutting winds which are so prevalent during the winter months.

Even the small convenience of a waiting-shed has been refused, the cost of which would not exceed £50. At the same time, we hear of large sums being paid for railway stations and platforms, the interest upon which outlay is not more than one-fourth of that expended upon tramway construction. We have also been refused the reasonable convenience and boon of season tickets.

The only way out of our troubles seems to me to try and induce some members of the Government to live in Waverley.

I am, &c., J. T.

INDIGO.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE HERALD.

Sir,—In this morning's issue, in your interesting letter from your correspondent in the Northern Territory, he makes an allusion to indigo which may slightly mislead. He speaks of it having a pretty blue flower. The flower is pink. He says, too, it reaches in India an average height of two feet. Our first cutting in India takes places generally when the plant is over four feet high, and on good strong lands I have often cut plants seven and eight feet high. The khoontees, or second cutting, is from plants two to three feet high, while in favourable seasons a "tailung" or third cutting, from one to two feet high may be gathered. The recent researches and experiments of Michea Schrottky and others have almost revolutionized the process of manufacture—so much so that fully a third more produce is obtainable from the plant under the new process than from the old crude process. Indigo is a crop that, with capital and coolie labour, would transform the Northern Territory into a second Tirhool, and make it vie with any of our sugar districts in wealth and prosperity. Anyone wanting the latest, fullest, and best information on tropical products and farming cannot do better than subscribe to the "Tropical Agriculturist," published by the Fergusons of the Ceylon Observer, Colombo, Ceylon.

Yours truly,
JAS. INGLIS.

Some samples of adulterated American cotton have been exhibited on the Manchester Exchange. In one case a bale of 500lbs. weight contained 100lbs. of sand, in another sand and gin refuse were introduced to a similar extent; and in the third case two-thirds of the bale was made up simply of sweepings of the packing-room.

EAST ST. LEONARDS RESERVE.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE HERALD.

Sir,—I see the Government have been somewhat liberal of late in purchasing reserves for some of our suburbs; and why is East St. Leonards left out in the cold, after a promise made by Sir Henry Parkes? Can it be put down as the fault of our worthy and energetic aldermanic body, or our member, in not jogging the memory of the Colonial Secretary's Department? Our position at Milson's Point is simply this, that our borough is growing in population very fast, and every available space is being built upon. We have no reserve nearer than the North Shore—one which, I suppose, is about one and a-half miles away from us, as pointed out by our Mayor, Mr. G. M. Pitt, in writing to the Survey Office on the 5th November, 1880. He says—"I may mention that at present there is no place approaching a recreation ground in this borough, the nearest being not less than a mile and a-half distant, and situated at the further end of the township of St. Leonards, the road to which is up-hill all the way."

I trust that you will assist us, through your able columns, in obtaining this much-needed boon. About the only available land now is situated between Fitzroy-street and Carrabella-street, and the sooner it is secured the better for the health of our olive branches.

I am, &c.,

HAWKESBURY COURSING CLUB.

The newly-established Hawkesbury Coursing Club is to hold its first meeting at Windsor on the 15th and 16th instant, and as the honorary secretary (Mr. H. M'Quade) and the committee have been working assiduously to complete the necessary arrangements, there is every probability of the meeting being very successful. The Hawkesbury Cup, for 32 all-aged dogs at £7 7s. each, is the opening event, and as the entries are numerous, and the dogs of good breeding, some interesting coursing should be witnessed in it. Then follows the Hawkesbury Purse for 16 dogs beaten in the first round of the cup; the St. Leger for 16 puppies at £5 5s. each; and the All-comers Stake for 16 all ages, at £2 5s. each. The train leaves Redfern at 9 a.m., and a special train is to leave Windsor at 5.30 p.m. each day.

CRICKET.

THOMSON'S JUNIOR CHALLENGE CUP.—The match between Our Boys and Surry United, being the final event, was resumed on Saturday afternoon last on the Cup ground, Moore Park, and from present appearances promises to extend to two further meetings before being concluded. As on Saturday week, a large concourse of persons, close on 5000, were present, and unusual interest was manifested in the play, quited unprecedented, indeed, in the history of any cup contests in this colony. Considering, indeed, that the line of play is only distinguished by sundry coloured flags, the large crowd is to be complimented upon the clear field given to the various contestants, preserved in a great measure by the presence of a few energetic members of the police force. Being the test match, as it were, every precaution was taken by Mr. Ironside to give, and under adverse circumstances, the best possible wicket, and all things considered these played remarkably well. When the game ended on Saturday week the Surrys had seven wickets down for 139 runs, but on the resumption of play the score was only supplemented by 6 additional runs, the innings closing for a total of 145, J. Searle carrying out his bat for a well-earned 49. This was considered a large score for the Our Boys to face; but 80 runs having been scored at the fall of the sixth wicket, made the game at this juncture somewhat even and interesting. The double-figure scorers were:—Moyes, 21; Saunders, 12; Power, 14; and Dennis, 35, not out. This latter played a fine, patient innings, but both his confreres should have added materially to their score from several loose ones to leg from more than one of the Surry bowlers. Albeit this, Dennis did his side good service. Only two out of the four bowlers of the Surry came off, viz., Thomson and Watkins. The former led off well, but, tiring, was not so successful at the latter end; while the latter at the onset scarcely came up to expectations. Barring one little want of judgment when two fieldsmen let a ball fall between them, without making any endeavour to take what was an easy catch from Hannah (each trusting too confidently to one another), the fielding was very fair. When the stumps were drawn the Our Boys had scored 100 runs for eight wickets. Looking to the average positions of the two clubs, the difference is not yet very material, and we anticipate a close and exciting contest and increasing interest as the game progresses. Messrs. J. C. Anderson, honorary secretary of the Osborne Cricket Club, and Thomas Ironside acted as umpires, giving universal satisfaction. The following are the scores in detail:—

EASTERN SUBURBS AMATEUR ATHLETIC CLUB.

Committee: M. Arnold, J. Ferris, T. Ferris, J. Oliver, F. W. Baylis, G. Begg, R. Begg, E. E. Wahlberg, H. H. Wahlberg, and H. B. Hughes. Referee: W. F. Freeman. Judges of Walking: W. P. Simpson and S. Cohen. Starter: L. G. J. Bennett. Judges: J. W. Fletcher and H. M. Faithful.

The Eastern Suburbs Amateur Athletic Club made its first public appearance on Saturday, when an excellent programme of sports was provided. The New South Wales Cricket Association Ground had been secured for the occasion, and the interest taken in the day's proceedings was evinced by the very large attendance of the public, notwithstanding the strong counter attractions. The arrangements were admirably carried out, to the satisfaction of both the competitors and the spectators. One very pleasing feature in the management was the punctuality observed in starting the races. Although there were 19 events, the last was started only a few minutes behind time. The following were the results:—

The Victorian bowling team, who are to represent the sister colony in the intercolonial match, arrived on Saturday morning overland, and were received by Mr. J. Young (president of the New South Wales Bowling Association) and other gentlemen. During the day the players visited Annandale, at the invitation of Mr. Young, and had some practice on the green in the afternoon, in the presence of a number of local and Sydney bowlers. The intercolonial match will take place on Wednesday next, at Cook Park.

SYDNEY HOMING PIGEON SOCIETY.

A race under the auspices of the above society took place on Saturday, the 3rd instant, from Moss Vale, 80 miles from Sydney. 19 birds competed, and they were sent to Moss Vale by the mail train on Friday evening, and all liberated together by Mr. Donnan at 10 o'clock punctually. The first to find his birthplace was Fairlight, the property of F. C. Freeman, of Newtown, who did the distance in 101 minutes. Messrs. Wright and Hawkins' birds homed in 104 minutes. Mr. Freeman having to allow Messrs. Wright and Hawkins 3 minutes' time allowance, the race was declared a dead heat. The fly-off between the birds of Messrs. Wright, Hawkins, and Freeman took place last Wednesday, the birds being tossed at intervals of a quarter of an hour. The weather was beautifully fine and clear, and was all in favour of the birds. The race resulted in a very easy win for F. C. Freeman's Fairlight, who completely distanced his rivals; Mr. Wright's second, and Mr. Hawkins' third.

SYDNEY AMATEUR SAILING CLUB.

The closing of the sailing season having been fixed for last Saturday afternoon, a number of the members of the above club turned out on the occasion and took part in the evolutions. Owing to the lateness of the season, there was not as large a number of boats as there would otherwise have been, the close season being from April to September. On account of the uncertainty of the wind, boatowners at this time of the year prefer to dismantle and house their racing crafts, which are as a rule not launched again till the north-easters commence blowing. About 3 o'clock the Victor, with Mr. G. C. Elliott, the commodore of the club, sailed down the fairway, flying the signals "Rendezvous in Farm Cove;" and the fleet having mustered as desired, it proceeded with the following evolutions, viz.:—"Form two lines astern of divisional leaders—the Adelphi, with the vice-commodore, Mr. A. J. Soutar, on board, leading the starboard division, and the Lizzie the port division;" "Follow in line," "Form line abreast to starboard of commodore," and "Salute commodore." Each boat in its turn saluted the commodore and resumed its former position. The evolutions having been completed, the commodore invited the crews present to "rendezvous" in Berry's Bay, to partake of some light refreshments he had kindly provided. These having been duly discussed, Mr. Soutar proposed the health of the Commodore and Mrs. Elliott, which was drunk with enthusiasm. Mr. Elliott, in a neat speech, replied, thanking the company for the hearty manner in which the toast was received, and the members of the club for their assistance in making the past season the success it had been. The health of the hon. secretary (Mr. A. Green) was next proposed and responded to, and a very enjoyable afternoon's proceedings was brought to a termination. The crews then rejoined their respective boats and set sail for home. It was not until the crews had landed at Berry's Bay that the death of the much-respected amateur champion sculler of the colony—Mr. David Lord—became known, the sad news of whose death cast quite a gloom upon the party.

SCULLING MATCH.

On Saturday afternoon, a match rowed in outriggers came off on the champion course, Parramatta River, between Messenger and Solomon, for £25 a side. The start was effected punctually at 4.30, when Solomon took the lead and maintained it for a mile; Messenger then came up, and a good race ensued to the finish, Messenger overhauling his opponent, and finishing a length ahead. Time, 24 minutes 30 seconds. The steamer Indignant followed the race. Mr. M. Byrnes acted as umpire, and Mr. J. Richards as judge.

THE M. R. C. ROWING MATCHES.

A junior sculling race took place on Saturday afternoon between several members of the Mercantile Rowing Club for one of the silver cups presented to the club by the Hon. J. B. Watt. The course was from the clubhouse round Fort Denison and back to the starting-point, and as the wind was blowing fresh from the south the distance was quite long enough to test the staying powers of the scullers. Much more interest than is usual on these occasions was taken in the contest, the lawn in front of the boathouse being crowded with spectators, while a fleet of boats of every description, from the stately eight-oar to the tiniest outrigger, escorted the competitors over the course, and the scene was enlivened now and then by an impromptu tussle between a number of boats, the style of some members of the contending crews being exceedingly grotesque. The race was rowed in heats, with the following results:—First Heat: Whelan, 1; Eldridge, 2; Frazer, 3. The boats were sent away on equal terms, and kept in close company till reaching Fort Denison, which was first rounded by Frazer, who was leading his rivals by a length. Shortly afterwards, however, he carried away the lashing of his poppet-head, and through this contretemps was compelled to withdraw from the contest. A grand struggle then ensued between Whelan and Eldridge for first position, which was secured by the former, who rowed in excellent form. Second Heat: Pickering, 1; Juleff, 2. This event was regarded as a soft thing for Pickering, but Juleff soon convinced the favourite that he was not to have it all his own way, and it was only after an exciting race that Pickering managed to lead past the judge. To decide the winner of the cup the winners of the first and second heats—Whelan and Pickering—rowed off. Immediately after the start Pickering took the lead, which he maintained, in spite of the spurts made by Whelan. The island was reached in fast time, and Pickering, who was rowing well within himself, looked all over a winner, but when opposite the Nelson he lost his slide, and at the same time his chance of securing the president's cup. Messrs. Benson, Blackman, and Gilfinan acted respectively as starter, judge, and umpire.

Our Grafton correspondent telegraphed on Saturday:—"A foot race between Thomas Neud and Darcey, distance 125 yards, was run this afternoon, and won by Darcey after a good race."

From our Adelaide correspondent we learn that only Darebin, Spectre, Topaz, Dutchman, and Royal Maid remain in the St. Leger Birthday Race Meeting.

Our Adelaide correspondent telegraphs that the South Adelaide Football Club beat the Port Adelaide Club on Saturday by 3 goals to 1. The Norwoods beat the South Parks by 3 goals and 12 behinds to 1 goal 8 behinds.

Our Melbourne correspondent telegraphs that the football match—South Melbourne v. Hotham—on Saturday, drew a large attendance. The game was splendidly contested until within half an hour of time being called, when South Melbourne got the advantage and won, having kicked 2 goals and 10 behinds to Hotham's 7 behinds.

The final heat for the Public Schools Rowing Match (telegraphs our Melbourne correspondent) came off on Saturday afternoon, the contestants being Geelong Grammar School and the Scotch College, who had previously defeated Wesley College and Melbourne Grammar School. Geelong started with a lead, and won by half a length, after an excellent contest. There was a large attendance, and great interest was manifested.

The PERMANENT and other MILITARY FORCES.

A general parade of military forces who are to take part in some evolutions on the Queen's Birthday, was held on Moore Park on Saturday afternoon. A brigade consisting of infantry, and other forces acting as infantry, occupied a portion of Moore Park west of the tram line, while field batteries occupied a portion east of the tram line. The infantry were drawn up in line of quarter columns facing west, at twelve paces interval between battalions, in the following order, commencing from the right:—New South Wales Permanent Artillery under the command of Major Murphy, with Major Airey; Volunteer Artillery under Lieutenant-Colonel Wells, with Captain Taunton (Adjutant); Torpedo Corps under Major Cracknell, with Captain Walker; Engineer Corps, under Major Rowe; 1st Regiment Volunteer Infantry, under Major Richards, with Adjutant Hill; 2nd Regiment Volunteer Infantry, under Lieutenant-Colonel Goodlet, with Major Jaques and Captain Wilson (Adjutant). The brigade deployed into line, the ranks were opened, and the general salute given. A feu de joie having been fired, the massed bands played the National Anthem. The brigade then formed into quarter columns on the right, companies of battalions closed to 12 paces interval, and then marched past in column. After marching past in that way the forces were halted, countermarched, and then marched past in quarter column. Line of quarter columns was then formed, and the brigade having marched past in that order executed a very pretty movement, changing front to the right on the left battalion, and advanced in review order. The regiments were subsequently marched to their respective parade grounds, and dismissed. The forces were reviewed by the acting commandant, Lieutenant-Colonel Christie, assisted by the staff, consisting of Captain Mackenzie, acting major of brigade; and Captain Compton and Lieutenant C. B. Airey, orderly officers. The field batteries consisted of six guns of the Permanent Force, under Lieutenant A. Le Patourel, with Lieutenants Bouverie and Airey; and four guns of the Volunteer Artillery, under Captain Fahey. The batteries were under the command of Lieutenant-Colonel Spalding, commanding the artillery forces, assisted by Lieutenant Nathan, acting brigade-adjutant. The field artillery were exercised in a number of movements, which they will execute at the review by his Excellency on the Queen's Birthday. The display was considered highly satisfactory. Lieutenant-Colonel Blaxland, the officer commanding the Queensland Volunteers, was on the ground during the afternoon, and expressed himself as highly pleased with what he had witnessed.

MOORE PARK.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE HERALD.

Sir,—I sympathise with my neighbour, "Young-street," in the Borough of Redfern, in the lamentations which he pours forth, in your issue of the 10th instant, on his neglected condition.

I, too, have my troubles, though I belong to the metropolis of the Southern Hemisphere. I have been in trouble these 14 years, but, unlike my "Young" neighbour, I have borne my grief in secret, I have pined almost away. I, too, have three aldermen. For about 12 years I had only two, but the Wisdom (?) of Parliament about two years since gave me another. I confess my depressed spirits then experienced a slight exhilaration; my organ of hope was touched. The cup of the bitterness of disappointment is the reward of my hope. Like my neighbour worm, "Young-street," I can turn—I have a turn left in me—and I turn, encouraged by his example. It is now nearly half a century since I was born and christened, and about 14 years since I was taken in hand by the most public-spirited of Mayors Charles Moore—(now the Honorable), but alas! he was not one of my aldermen. He left the colony to recruit his health and pay his respects to royalty, leaving me to the tender care and mercies of my aldermen.

I was a one-sided street then, and am still the same. My aldermen live and have their interests on the other side of Surry Hills, and they are one-sided too.

None of them ever visit me. I have been so long neglected, and have such a dejected aspect, that I suppose they are ashamed of me. I have a beautiful park on one side of me, but I am spurned by its society as an unfit and loathsome neighbour; and no wonder. My sewer, with which I was started in life at the epoch mentioned, the mayoralty of Mr. Moore, remains uncovered to this day, and I am a filthy being, exposed in all my filth to the public gaze, exhaling to all around the pestilent gases of my sewer.

Sydney, 12th May. DOWLING STREET.

BOROUGH COUNCIL.

MANLY.—Meeting held on 20th April. Present—The Mayor (Mr. G. W. Barker), Aldermen Austin, Hayes, Laurence, Pitt, and Small. Minutes of regular meeting of 6th instant read and confirmed. Letters read:—From Inspector-General of Police, re lamp over door of police station, Manly; council clerk, Bathurst, re street lamps used in Manly; from Messrs. Norton and Smith, solicitors for Mr. Alexander Dean, re matter of drain from his property, Spey-terrace, on the West Esplanade; read also the Mayor's reply to same. Report from works committee, under date 23rd March, read and adopted. Report from inspector of nuisances, re drain from Dean's property on the West Esplanade. Report from inspector of nuisances that 25 cesspits were still in use, read. Questions: Did the Mayor make any arrangements with Mr. Alexander Dean, re the drain from Spey-terrace, or give him permission to drain into the harbour? No. Have the drains been disconnected from the Raglan-street main drain? No; but there is a plan on the subject to come under the consideration of the council. Moved by Alderman Small,—"That, on and after this date, and until further notice, all nightsoil and house refuse be buried in the East Steyne reserve." Seconded by Alderman Austin, and carried. Moved by Alderman Laurence, and seconded by Alderman Hayes,—"That a bylaw be at once passed making it unlawful for persons to throw or leave bottles or broken glass on the beaches, reserves, or any part of the municipality." Carried. Moved by Alderman Laurence,—"That circulars be at once sent round to the residents of Manly, intimating that any premises which may be found by the inspector of nuisances to be unclean, emitting offensive smells, or in any way creating a nuisance, the occupiers thereof will be immediately prosecuted." Seconded by Alderman Pitt, and carried. The council clerk was directed to write to those persons who had disfigured the plantations, seats, &c., in the reserves by painting their advertisements thereon, and request them to immediately have them obliterated. The council resolved itself into committee of the whole for the consideration of the applications for the office of inspector of nuisances and poundkeeper to the municipality. On resuming its sittings the council reported having elected (appointed) Mr. John A. Bann to the office, the salary to be at the rate of £100 per annum, and a moiety of the fines obtained, and the appointment to date from the 1st day of May.—C. WAGSTAFF, Council Clerk.

MINING INTELLIGENCE.

[BY TELEGRAPH.]

(FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENTS.)

BEGA, FRIDAY.

What is reported as a very rich deposit of gold was struck on the north side of the Wagonga River, near Eurobodalla. Large lots of gold are said to have recently been sold in Moruya. The locality of the find only leaked out on Wednesday. A rich quartz reef is said to have been discovered, the locality of the discovery being between the Gulf (or Nerrigundah) diggings and the sea. Exaggerated rumours reach here of the finds, but they must be received with caution.

TEMORA, SATURDAY.

Grand gold was got yesterday in No. 1, South Phœnix, Barmedman (Bagwell and party), report says as good as has yet been got on Barmedman. Gold was also got on both sides of the Phœnix P. C. Hassett and party also struck a gold-bearing reef. Much excitement prevails in consequence of the Phœnix discovery. Two small rushes have taken place—one to the Grecian Bend, and another to the back of Diamond Drill Hill; but poor prospects at both. Eight loads from near the Grecian Bend yielded 3oz. 12dwt. 14grs. Mooney and party washed 500 loads for 18dwt. per load. In consequence of the high price for feed, carriage now from Cootamundra is £3 per ton. No. 1 east Prince of Wales, adjoining United Temora Company, Adelaide ground, has struck a fine gold-bearing reef. The Shamrock and Eureka reefs are raising grand stone this morning. Another Adelaide company has been formed, with a capital of £24,000, for No. 1 North Shamrock, an extended claim.

Messrs. Melhado and Curtis report the yield from the Band and Albion Consols Gold-mining Company last week to be 437oz. from 1120 tons. The yield from Working Miners' United Company for fortnight, 700oz. A dividend of 3s. 6d. is declared, payable Saturday, the 20th instant.

Messrs. J. B. North and Son report the yield of the Duke Gold-mining Company, Limited, to be 209oz. for the week.

The mining manager of the New Mount Hope Copper-mining Company reports as follows upon the operations at the mine during the past month:—"Owing to the drought, one furnace only could be worked during the month. Eighty tons of ore were smelted, producing 16½ tons copper, besides a small quantity absorbed in furnace bottom. Mining operations were confined to stoping at shaft and 10-fathom level, by four men. The lodes in these stopes have produced satisfactorily, 100 tons having been raised from 13 cubic fathoms. I am glad to say that the drought has broken up. We have had rain sufficient to give us a supply of water for four months, and from present appearance of weather I hope to get a still further supply soon, and consequently be able to carry on the works under more favourable conditions than those we have had during the past four months."

The Junction Point Gold-mining Company, No Liability, has been floated. The mine is situated on the Macquarie River, at the junction with Mucherawa Creek.

TRADE RELATIONS between VICTORIA and NEW SOUTH WALES.

(From the Argus, May 12.)

The Sydney Morning Herald has made a study of the trade relations between Victoria and New South Wales. The facts and the figures which it adduces in its issue of May 2 are of much interest, both in view of the contention that our intercolonial trade is not in so healthy a condition as might be desired, and also in view of the declaration that the Radical party here has no objection to, but on the contrary has a strong leaning to, intercolonial free trade. The particulars given by our contemporary show how little there is of freedom in the commercial intercourse of the two colonies, and in addition to making clear the offence, the article identifies the offender.

The latest returns available are those for 1880, but practically for such a purpose one year is as good another. In the year in question the two colonies consumed each other's produce and manufactures as follows:—Victoria sent to New South Wales, £1,109,122; New South Wales sent to Victoria, £939,287. From the list of imports into Victoria we have of course deducted the wool, tallow, copper, &c., which passed through this colony from New South Wales, en route to London. With this produce we have nothing to do, and it is a great pity that the figures relating to it should be included in our general statistics, for the result is that our annual exports are inordinately swollen, and the true position of Victorian trade is concealed. Thus our export list for 1880 included wool of the value of £3,200,000, every lock of which was the produce of our neighbours. In the first instance, we may note in what spirit our neighbours treat goods coming from Victoria. The subdivision is as follows:—Free goods, £1,008,024; dutiable, £101,098. But when we come to deal with produce and manufactures sent by New South Wales into Victoria, the following is the subdivision:—Free goods, £173,668; dutiable, £825,619. Here there is a difference indeed. A portion of the duties levied in New South Wales are revenue taxes on malt, beer, spirits, &c., which would be maintained as a matter of course, while others, no doubt, are relics of the old days when the sister colony made a plunge into protection. But on the whole our manufacturers and producers have little to complain of. Wheat, cattle, sheep, potatoes, butter, fruit, slops, boots and shoes, furniture, machinery, and other cognate articles, all go in to the sister colony free. With ourselves, the reverse is the case. We tax the grain of our neighbours, their cattle and sheep, their potatoes, their butter, their fruit, their boots and shoes, their furniture, their machinery, and all cognate articles. Practically, we admit nothing free. Some fish, a few score eggs, and a few pounds of pork, were imported free of duty during 1880, and that is all. The balance of the free imports is made up of coal, and we did not forego a tax on coal for the sake of our neighbours, or from any deference to free trade principles. It is probable, indeed, that were there a fair prospect of working the Kilcunda and Cape Paterson coalfields, the new-born zeal for free intercourse with our neighbours would not stand for a day in the way of an agitation for a protective impost. The relative position of the two countries as regards the mutual trade may be summarised as follows:—Duties levied by New South Wales on Victorian goods, £15,961; duties levied by Victoria on goods from New South Wales, £85,640. The balance is, therefore, against ourselves to the extent of nearly £70,000 per annum. We charge £1 where our neighbours only collect 3s. 4d.

The Sydney Morning Herald remarks, "It is evident that our neighbours have the fullest opportunity to overrun New South Wales with their manufactures, so far as the tariff is concerned," and the contention is not to be denied. We are free, practically, to enter our neighbour's markets. For the most part we have all we can desire. If there is to be any improvement in the situation, the movement must come from us, and certainly it would be a pity if all the generous sentiments recently expressed should be wasted, when there are large reforms to be effected with equal benefit to the two colonies. The tax on sheep and cattle is, for instance, directly levied against New South Wales. It is a great mistake, for not only does it impose a burden upon the consumer, but it is admitted to materially check our tanneries and our fellmongeries; to be a danger to our growing trade in frozen meat, and to substantially reduce our railway receipts. That impost might go by the board. Nor would cab-owners grumble if taxes on horsefeed—also levied as against New South Wales—went also. And we should assuredly have our reward, not only in the cheapening of commodities to the consumer, but in the additional orders our manufacturers and producers would receive, for if New South Wales did any larger trade with us, she would take payment not in money but in goods. Of course there is no prospect of any such reform. None are so blind as not to perceive what declarations from protectionists in favour of intercolonial free trade really mean. The proposal is that Victoria should give up duties levied upon the produce of her neighbours, and that the sister colonies should in return adopt the duties which she levies on foreign imports. We, it is assumed, would use their produce, and they would take our manufactures. The picture is a fancy sketch; the proposition is absurd, from whatever standpoint it is regarded. Our neighbours, we may hope, are not likely to depart from the fiscal system under which they have flourished. They must be well satisfied with their progress as compared with our own, but if they were to make a change, their object would assuredly be to establish local rather than to patronise Melbourne industries. It is Sydney factories that Mr. Buchanan argues in favour of, and not Victorian. Our workshops would derive little or no benefit by the change, because the sister colonies would decline to give any pledge not to start protected factories of their own. And on the other hand, the farmers whose duties are to be swept away would soon topple over the protectionist system with a crash. It is self-evident that the policy of restriction exists here by virtue of the intercolonial duties. These foolishly reconcile the farmers to their lot, and without the farmers' aid the policy would be impossible—the votes would be wanting. Thus, happily, the Victorian system is self-contained. If it extends, it necessarily expires. It is a subject for rejoicing that the policy is thus cribbed, cabined, and confined, and that the only federation that is possible is on a real, and not a sham, basis of commercial freedom.

CIRCULAR QUAY JETTIES.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE HERALD.

Sir,—As a lessee of one of the jetties at the Circular Quay, I desire to state that it is not correct, as stated by Mr. Abigail, M.L.A., who waited upon the Colonial Treasurer with a deputation on Friday, that I have charged exorbitant rates from steamboat proprietors, or private or other picnic parties desiring to use my wharf; and I may add that although I have always been anxious to lighten the burden of my rent by allowing other parties the occasional use of my jetty on payment of a moderate fee, I have not received or booked £15 for wharfage rates during the ten months I have been in possession of the jetty, nor have I received £20 for wharfage rates during the many years I have been a wharf owner or lessee. For myself (and I believe other wharf lessees are of the same mind), I should be glad to see a general public wharf erected, as that would then be available for all harbour steamers on equal terms; and that would be the means of reducing the high rents of from £300 to £500 per annum, which the Hon. the Treasurer has managed to compel the steamboat owners to pay for the use of each of the jetties at the Circular Quay, against which I always protested.

I am, &c., C. E. JEANNERET.

CONTINENTAL GOSSIP.

(FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT "STELLA.")

PARIS, March 4.

The dilettanti world of Paris may be said to be suffering just now from a plethora of art exhibitions. There are open at this present writing the following, and others will doubtless be opened for the admiration of the public before this letter reaches you. The Society of the Mirlitons, of Les Arts Liberaux, of the Rue Volney, of the French Landscapists, of French Amateurs, of Twenty Aquarellists, of the Russians, of the Scandinavians, of the Independents. All of these collections have some good pictures, together with many of which the less said the better. Of the more eminent of the Russians, may be cited Demetrieff, Harlamoff, Bogoluboff, Pokhitonoff, and Liphart, whose German name is almost the only one not ending in ff. Among the Scandinavians are Wahlburg, Munthe, Gegerfeldt, Leruberg, Skredewig, Kroger, Salmson, Hagborg, and the fine painting, "The Foolish Virgins," by a Swedish lady of high rank, Mdlle. von Post, whose passion for art has led her to renounce the temptations of rank, fashion, and the Court, to devote herself to the easel and the brush. In the pursuit of her ideal this lady has even sold (to a relative) her ancestral home, the chateau of As, built by one of her forefathers, a marshal, 300 years ago, and that has never been out of her family; one of the largest estates in Sweden, with its old chateau, its fine villages of labourers employed on the estate, its thousands of cattle and sheep, innumerable fowls, game, fish, woods, and agricultural produce of all kinds, the management of which employs five intendants, and an army of workpeople. Mdlle. de Post found the care of such a property to be incompatible with her devotion to painting, and turned it over to one of her nephews at a nominal price, to be free to return to Paris and prosecute the art to which she had devoted so many years, and in which she had already acquired a brilliant reputation, before the death of her widowed mother brought this important property into her possession.

As for The Independents, the correctness of a recent criticism becomes apparent on first beholding the exhibition in question. "They appear to have taken a gun, charged it with paint, and fired it off at a sheet of canvas."

A portion of the people of Paris, having dethroned their former idols, one after the other, and finding it impossible to get on without something to take their place, have decided to raise Victor Hugo to the rank of a demi-god. It is difficult to say whether the enormousness of the flattery addressed to the old poet or the perfect equanimity with which he takes it furnishes the more curious spectacle. After all the ovations of every kind and on every scale which have been got up in his honour of late years, the occurrence of his 80th anniversary has just been made the occasion of a new celebration in his honour. The friends of the poet got up various complimentary episodes for the day; but its crowning glory was the revival of his drama of "Hernani" at the Français, the play having been first performed on the same day some half-a-century ago. The idea of this compliment to the old poet was due to the Minister for Fine Arts, who also determined that the performance should be gratuitous, feeling that nothing could be more agreeable to him. Eight hundred more persons than the theatre could hold applied for seats. The Theatre Français contains 1500 places; but, on Saturday evening last, 2300 people were squeezed in, placing themselves as they best could. The play was magnificently acted, and was one long triumph, the artists being called before the curtain twice after each act. At the moment when the fifth act was about to commence, Victor Hugo slipped quietly into a box on the ground tier, where he did not long remain hidden from the eyes that were looking out for him. The moment he appeared there was a tremendous burst of applause, which was not brought to a close until the signal for raising the curtain had been loudly given. After the fifth act the curtain rose, and showed the players grouped round the bust of Victor Hugo (which has already figured at the 50th anniversary of the first performance of "Hernani"), and M. Mounet-Sully, the most accomplished reciter of the day, stepping forward, read a very beautiful poem, called "The Anniversary," in honour of the hero of the evening, from the elegant pen of M. François Coppee. The verses begin, "An oak is old," "An eagle is old," "The sun is very old," each verse setting forth the fact that the object cited is none the worse for being old. The fourth verse begins, "He too, is very old! The pet well-beloved," and quotes a saying of his, "I was born with this century, and I continue my march with it!" The two last verses go on to say that nature, when such a poet is born, gives him the gift of perennial youth, so that while all around him grow old he lives on superb, no more growing old than does the oak, the eagle, and the sun; the last verse imploring the noble old man to remain long among those who bow before him, and to let them long behold, on the return of his anniversary, "shining amid the green laurels with which thy head is decked, the gleam of thy ever-young grey hair!"

An enormous crowd had gathered outside the theatre, to await the poet's exit. It was long before a cab could be brought to the door for him, and it had to drive away at a snail's pace to avoid injuring the people who crowded about it. A thundering shout of "Vive Victor Hugo!" saluted the poet as he drove away.

The wild enthusiasm of the greeting thus accorded to the idol of the day, recalls the virulent opposition he met with when he first came before the public, breaking with the stiltified classicality that had hitherto reigned supreme on the French stage, and inaugurating the romantic school which he lent his genius to the task of founding and consolidating. In a glorification of the poet, entitled "Victor Hugo, recounted by a Witness of his Life," the author says, in reference to one of the earliest revivals of the plays that had excited such violent opposition on their first appearance, "As I was leaving the theatre two of the spectators were discussing the piece as they descended the staircase after the fall of the curtain:—'It is no wonder there is no more hissing,' exclaimed one of them, 'he has changed all the verses.' 'You are mistaken,' replied his friend: 'it is not the play that he has changed, but the public.'" A remark that was perfectly true, for the influence of Victor Hugo's genius has undoubtedly changed the current of dramatic composition in France. But it is none the less curious to see a living poet the object of ovations such as have never before fallen to the lot even of dead ones; and also to see how comfortably and naturally the "oak-eagle-sun" takes all this ingenious contemporary flattery as being simply and naturally his due.

It is interesting to note, in connexion with "the green old age" of Victor Hugo, that he was one of the weakest of babies, and was only kept alive, until well on into his teens, by the unfailing care and judicious management of a devoted mother. With the methodical order which regulates everything in his life, Victor Hugo rules his existence—hours, habits, meals, exercise, sleep—with unvarying regularity, allowing nothing to interfere with the routine he has prescribed for himself. He eats heartily, but never to excess; never takes more than a slight admixture of wine in the water he drinks; goes to bed at 9 o'clock and rises at 6, all the year round; takes the same amount of outdoor air daily, on foot if fine, in an omnibus if raining; never dines out, but usually has a few friends to dinner, his two grandchildren (who live with him, as do their mother and her second husband) being invariably of the party.

While the Mikado of Japan is renouncing the absolute authority hitherto wielded by the Head of the States, and is appointing a Chamber of Deputies, a Chamber of Peers, and preparing to inaugurate a Constitutional Government in Japan, with the aid of 90 nobles, who are to be sent to England, America, and France, for six years, to study the art of government as practised in those countries, a young Chinese gentleman, attired in his national costume, has just qualified as a barrister, before the Paris Court of Appeal. He has pursued his studies throughout in this city, is said to possess considerable ability, and is now a regular member of the Paris Bar.

The Parisian wits are making merry over the terrors now being ventilated in England anent the proposed Channel tunnel. The idea of so narrow a passage, 20 miles long, being used to send an army into England strikes them as delightfully ridiculous; and these journals are assuring England that France will never be able to get up a similar panic as to any danger of such an invasion of France by her.

The sale of the famous Mabille Garden has taken place, and that renowned scene of gaiety and dissipation is now a thing of the past. At the sale of the "properties" of an admittedly improper place, the lighting apparatus fetched £100; the vases in the gardens, £160; the trees and shrubs, about the same amount; the cloakrooms, kiosks, "Sybil's pavilion," shooting gallery, &c., £68; the ironwork of the fountains, £240; the celebrated piece of artificial rockwork, forming a grotto and waterfall, fetched only the small sum of £20. It is not every town garden that can utilize or even lodge so imposing a piece of flowery rusticity. In the course of a month no vestige of the renowned garden will exist, as the building operations, which will cover the site with handsome houses, are to be commenced forthwith.

The lovely Mediterranean town of Mentone is jubilant. The Queen of Saxony has just passed through Paris on her way to it; and Queen Victoria is about to do likewise. Mentone is perhaps the quietest of all the exquisite localities that tempt foreigners to the shores of "the tideless sea." Nice is too lively; Cannes is dull; Mentone is peaceful. The whole of the region, however, is becoming more and more the habitual resort of foreigners who can afford to run away from the cold and fogs of northern winters, paying the high prices that now rule from St. Raphael to Ventimiglia, and that are rising higher and higher every year.

POLICE.

CENTRAL POLICE COURT.

Mr. Dillon, S.M., occupied the bench on Saturday.

Henry Matthews, 16, a recent arrival from a neighbouring colony, was convicted on his own confession of having stolen a coat, valued at 20s., the property of Leonard E. Fell, a fellow-lodger, and was sentenced to be imprisoned one month.

William M'Anally was found guilty of having, while in custody for drunkenness, assaulted the constable (Thompson) who, in the execution of his duty, had apprehended him; and as it was said not to be his first offence of the kind he was sentenced to a month's imprisonment.

WATER POLICE COURT.

Messrs. Buchanan and Addison, S.Ms., disposed of the business of this Court on Saturday.

Thomas Cox, who was arrested by Constable Shaw, whilst he was passing the Colonial Secretary's Office on Friday morning, with 28lb. of lead in his possession, was charged with having stolen the metal from Messrs. Allen A. Marshall and Co.'s, and was sent to gaol for a month.

Leonard Madden, 21 years, labourer, was charged with assaulting one Frank Eccles, on the Queen's Wharf. It seemed that Eccles was employed by a catering firm, and that whilst he was carrying home some refreshments, which had been part of a quantity sent for use by a river picnic party, the defendant and others assaulted him, and took some of the refreshments. The defendant was fined £5, with the option of two months' imprisonment.

Kate Angello, alias Walkley, and Johanna Ford, both of whom were arrested at half-past 12 o'clock on Saturday morning, and brought up on charges of being common prostitutes, wandering in Pitt-street, and behaving in a riotous manner, were sentenced to six months' imprisonment, with hard labour.

Thomas Murphy, for offending against decency in St. Kilda-lane, was fined 40s.

Samuel O. Scott, for being drunk and disorderly in William-street, and using profane language in Bourke-street, was ordered to pay fines amounting to 45s.

William Jones was charged with being drunk in Crown-street, and using obscene language in Riley-street, and for the two offences he was fined £6.

A Court of Revision, to revise the electoral rolls of the districts of East Sydney, Paddington, Balmain, and St. Leonards, is to be held at the Water Police Court, at noon on Monday, 15th instant.

The sitting of the Small Debts Court, which should be held on Wednesday, May 24, will, as that is the anniversary of the Queen's Birthday, not be held on that day, but on the day previous, Tuesday, 23rd instant.

MEDICAL SECTION of the ROYAL SOCIETY of NEW SOUTH WALES.

The first ordinary meeting of the above section, during the present year, was held in the society's house on Friday evening; 20 members and some visitors attended. After some preliminary remarks, the chairman called on Dr. Manning to read his paper entitled, "A disputed case of insanity." The case was that of Bonomi Omobono, who committed a capital offence about two years ago, near Orange. He was arrested next day in a public-house and conveyed to Bathurst. At this time no question as to his mental condition was raised, but two weeks later on he became violent and exhibited symptoms of such a nature that two medical men were called in to examine him, and a jury was empanelled to decide whether he was in a proper state to understand the proceedings. They were unanimously of opinion that he was, in which decision the whole of the people in court concurred. He was found guilty and sentenced to death. The Judge recommended that he should be closely watched, and that inquiries should be instituted as to his antecedents. Dr. Manning was then called to report upon his case for the information of the Executive Council. From various circumstances, chief among which was the fact that the prisoner's knowledge of the English language was very imperfect, this was a task of no ordinary difficulty. However, after much anxious consideration, he came to the conclusion that Omobono was insane then, although at the time of the commission of the offence there was no evidence of mental disease. His reasons for arriving at this opinion were set forth at length, and formed the most interesting portion of the paper. Acting on this report, the Government commuted the sentence. After the prisoner was removed to Darlinghurst facts as to his family history were obtained which were strongly confirmatory of the opinion arrived at. He was removed to the asylum for criminal lunatics at Parramatta, where he remains at the present time hopelessly insane. The lucid statement of the facts of the case, and the logical deductions drawn from them which characterised the paper, rendered remark difficult, and dissent from the conclusion arrived at almost impossible, even without the light of after events, which were so completely confirmatory, and this no doubt accounted for the shortness of the discussion which followed. Dr. C. Morgan then exhibited a very interesting pathological specimen, which consisted of a fatty tumour removed from the inguinal canal of a boy aged eleven years. The tumour was about the size, and something the shape, of a kidney, and was estimated to weigh four ounces. Only three cases of such a growth in a similar position are recorded. The boy is making a good recovery. Dr. Thomas Evans, the honorary secretary, who had made special researches in surgical works, for the purpose of discovering the frequency of the condition described by Dr. Morgan, said it was extremely rare, he having been able to alight on the records of only two such cases. So interesting a specimen suggested to him the desirability of forming in Sydney a museum in which pathological treasures might be preserved for observation and study. In so large and important a colonial city as Sydney such an institution, he thought, was peculiarly necessary. Dr. Belgrave said the specimen exhibited was the property of the Sydney Hospital, and would, of course, be preserved in the pathological museum of that institution, which department was, moreover, presided over by a medical officer, specially attached, and to the conduct of which money was allotted by the directorate. Dr. Thomas Evans replied that he had for a considerable time enjoyed the pleasure of residing in the immediate vicinity of the Sydney Hospital, and had often visited the institution, but he had never seen or heard anything of its Pathological Museum. Dr. Mackellar was of opinion that all specimens coming from the same source as the one before the section clearly belonged to the Sydney Hospital. Dr. Sydney Jones said there could be no doubt of the existence of the Pathological Museum of the Sydney Hospital, and he knew as a fact that Dr. Cox was its curator. The question of altering the time of meeting to suit the convenience of members living at a distance was then discussed. Ultimately Dr. Quaife moved a resolution, which was duly seconded, and carried unanimously, to the effect that in future the section should meet at 8.15 p.m., instead of at 8 p.m. as has heretofore been the case. The meeting then terminated.

MINISTERIAL RAILWAY EXCURSION.

On Saturday, at the invitation of the Ministry, a large party of gentlemen left the Redfern railway station by special train on an excursion to the Blue Mountains and the Lithgow Valley Zigzag. It was expected that Mr. Archibald Forbes would be present, especially as the excursion was arranged in order that he and two or three other gentlemen who occupy prominent positions in the adjoining colonies, and who at the present time are visitors in Sydney, might see something of our railway system and the great engineering work which forms one of the most attractive sights not only in New South Wales, but perhaps in the world; but Mr. Forbes wrote to say he was indisposed, and therefore he could not avail himself of the invitation. The party included Sir John Robertson, Hon. John Lackey, Hon. Robert Wisdom, Hon. Stephen Campbell Brown, Hon. Sir James Martin, C.J., his Honor Mr. Justice Faucett, his Honor Mr. Justice Windeyer, Sir A. H. Palmer, Hon. Thomas Macrossan (Minister for Works, Queensland), Hon. J. B. Watt, M.L.C., Hon. W. Brodribb, M.L.C., Mr. James Fletcher, M.L.A., Mr. E. Combes, M.L.A., Mr. Pilcher, M.L.A., Mr. John See, M.L.A., Mr. H. Clarke, M.L.A., Mr. Cameron, M.L.A., Mr. A. Stuart, M.L.A., Mr. J. F. Burns, M.L.A., Mr. Hezlett, M.L.A., Mr. W. R. Campbell, M.L.A., Sir Patrick Jennings, M.L.A., Captain Hixson, Mr. J. E. Salomons, Mr. F. R. Rogers, Mr. Goldsbrough (Victoria), Mr. John Rae, Mr. Critchett Walker, Mr. Castle Mitchell, Mr. F. Bennett, Mr. T. T. Wilton, Mr. W. Hall, Captain Field, R.A., and several officers of the French warship Vire. The day was a delightful one. The atmosphere was cool and pleasant, the views about the mountains were seen to the best advantage, and the provision made for the entertainment of the guests was everything that could be desired. Attached to the train was a palace dining car, and under the direction of Mr. Cassidy, Parliamentary steward, the wants of the party were well looked after. Lithgow Valley was reached at 5 minutes to 1 o'clock, and luncheon was then served.

After luncheon, Sir JOHN ROBERTSON proposed the health of her Majesty the Queen, which was honoured with due loyalty.

Sir JAMES MARTIN then proposed the toast of "The Ministers." In doing so he said they had been invited there to meet Mr. Archibald Forbes, the celebrated war correspondent, and he was quite sure that those who had not made Mr. Forbes' personal acquaintance would have been very glad to do so. They were all acquainted with the manner in which he had performed his important duties, and with his courage and his skill. They all had read of his great achievement of riding 110 miles in 14 hours, and of other feats that he had performed in Bulgaria and other places; and he appeared to be possessed of great stamina to enable him to do those things. But last night he met with several of his compatriots, and they had proved far more formidable than the Bulgarians. (Laughter.) While he was able to perform the ride of 110 miles after the battle of Ulundi, after this meeting with his compatriots he was not able to come here. (Laughter.) He had told us a good deal last night about the Bairds, and the Ramsays, and the Greigs, who were so near the throne in St. Petersburg, but he met last night the Hays, the Raes, the M'Laurins, and the Stuarts, and they had proved too much for him. (Loud laughter.) However, they had got on very well, and they were none the less thankful to the Ministers for giving them this pleasant trip. (Cheers.)

The toast having been cordially drunk,

Sir JOHN ROBERTSON, who was cheered on rising, responded. He said the Ministers were delighted to see their guests there; it afforded them very great pleasure to see so many friends around them. They all had hoped to see Mr. Forbes there. (Hear, hear.) He (Sir John Robertson) was but a half-bred Scotchman, his father having been Scotch; and he thought if Mr. Forbes had been a true-bred Scotchman he would have been able to stand his whisky last night. (Laughter). He (Sir John) was quite sure he would have been able to drink not only all that Mr. Forbes drank, but also all that Sir John Hay drank, and then come there. ("Hear, hear," and laughter.) He was sorry Mr. Forbes was not present; but that gathering was not only for Mr. Forbes; they had there his friend Sir Arthur Palmer, and his friend Mr. Macrossan, the Minister for Works in Queensland—(applause)—and they had also with them Mr. Goldsbrough, of Victoria. He thanked the company for drinking the health of the Ministry, and proposed the healths of their distinguished guests.

Sir ARTHUR PALMER responded.

The train was then taken as far as Eskbank, where a short stoppage was made, and then the return journey commenced, Redfern being reached by half-past 6. The train arrangements were under the personal direction of Mr. Read, traffic manager, who accompanied the party, and there was no hitch of any kind.

This Estate, from its nearness to the city and the price at which it will be sold (having the advantage of tramway communication with the city), affords an opportunity for manufacturers, speculators, and others which cannot readily be offered again.

As in other suburbs—notably Randwick and Waverley—the effect of the tramway extension has been to raise the value of land, so here land should double, treble, or quadruple within a twelve month.
This land is to be sold much cheaper than any land within the same distance of Sydney by railway or any other line of tramway can be bought for.
To working men, desirous of being their own landlords, it is surely an opportunity not to be missed.
The terms are easy—£4 deposit on each lot, balance by equal monthly instalments of 5 per cent.
Five allotments are to be distributed on the art union principle amongst the buyers.
Inspection invited.
Plans on application.
The survey is by C. A. Aitchison, Esq.; each peg is numbered.

"TOORAM ESTATE."

Magnificent Grazing, Agricultural and Dairy Farm of 1155 acres, 7 miles from the flourishing Seaport of Warrnambool, in the Western District of Victoria.

To Capitalists, Trustees, Guardians, Gentlemen, and Practical Farmers, Breeders of pure Stock, and those generally requiring a high class security or a lucrative working investment.

For Sale by Auction, at Scott's Hotel, Melbourne, on 22nd JUNE, 1882.

JELLIE and ST. QUINTIN, Auctioneers, Warrnambool, and RYAN and HAMMOND, Melbourne, are instructed by Thomas M'Leod Palmer, Esq., the proprietor, to sell by public auction, at Scott's Hotel, Melbourne, on
at 3 o'clock p.m.,
The justly celebrated TOORAM ESTATE, consisting of 1155 acres, occupying a surpassingly beautiful site on the eastern bank of that queen of Victorian streams—the river Hopkins; the contour of the estate being easy and undulating loamy hills and deep rich black alluvial flats, naturally capable of producing as heavy crops as any land in the world. The productiveness of the land has been perpetuated by liberal yearly applications of bone dust and phosphates. On the alluvial flats the proprietor has fattened two head per acre, or an equivalent number of sheep.
TOORAM is worked by the proprietor as a DAIRY FARM on a very large and economical scale. Over 85 tons of cheese were manufactured last year, which can easily be increased to 100 this year, and the brand "Tooram" has won an established and merited reputation in the markets, not only of Victoria, but of South Australia and Queensland, the latter colonies purchasing with avidity at top market prices, and at the present time the demand for Tooram cheese exceeds the supply. A handsome revenue is derived from the piggeries and malting establishment.

The working expenses are on a scale of studied economy, all the plant is now in efficient working order, being very small for the enormous output.
The FARM BUILDINGS, fencing, barn, and all erections are substantial and in thorough order. The Estate is subdivided into 30 paddocks, and the SUPPLY of WATER from springs, waterholes, and the river Hopkins is so reliable and abundant that the most trying seasons have no effect in this most important desideratum.
The RESIDENCE is charmingly seated on a foreland commanding the Hopkins near the rapids, at the junction of fresh and salt water, and embraces a view of sloping banks clothed with indigenous shrubs and flowers, varying into sombre perpendicular cliffs rising abruptly from bold water, with perspective glimpses of more distant forest and river scenery that is unsurpassed by any of the many artistically selected sites of the wealthy colonists of Victoria. Every angler in the colony knows the reputation the Hopkins has achieved for Fishing, and both amateur and professional anglers are unanimous in identifying opposite Tooram as the best fishing grounds in the river. The dwelling-house contains 8 rooms, besides every convenience such as servants' rooms, kitchen, &c., required by a gentleman's family. The grounds, flower garden, and orchard are in great perfection. Water is laid on the flower and vegetable gardens, the stable, and men's huts.
LOVERS of BOATING could desire no more safe and beautiful arena than the Hopkins; from Tooram to the mouth is a noble sheet of water 7 miles in length, uninterrupted by snags, shallows, or dangerous currents, while the native beauty of the lofty banks and islets can scarcely be surpassed by any scenery in the colony.
Taken in globo TOORAM courts the inspection of the most fastidious, and must be seen to be fully appreciated, as full justice cannot be accorded within the limits of an advertisement.

The
of 21,700 ACRES,
Seven miles from "Minjah" homestead, 30 miles from the port of Warrnambool, 35 miles from Hamilton, and 25 miles from Glen Thompson, the depot for trucking sheep and cattle, both centres of districts deservedly famous for immunity from drought and bush fires, for the healthy tone of the country, being perfectly free from fluke or foot rot, and always has been, for its heavy carrying capabilities, and for the unprecedently HIGH PRICES THAT ITS WOOLS HAVE REALIZED uninterruptedly for years in the LONDON MARKETS.

TO BE SOLD BY AUCTION,
SCOTT'S HOTEL, MELBOURNE, on THURSDAY, JUNE 22, 1882,
at 3 o'clock.

JELLIE and ST. QUINTIN and DAL. CAMPBELL and CO. are favoured with instructions from the proprietor, JOSEPH WARE, Esq., to submit to public competition, at Scott's Hotel, Collins-street, Melbourne, on THURSDAY, 22nd June, 1882, at 3 o'clock p.m.,
THE BARWIDGEE ESTATE,
containing 21,700 acres, situated near the township of Orramut, about 30 miles from the port of Warrnambool, 35 miles from Hamilton, and 25 miles from Glen Thompson, connected therewith by macadamised roads. Barwidgee is reticulated by the Muston, Scrubby, Tooram and Burchett Creeks, besides several springs of splendid water, effectually irrigating the property throughout the most trying seasons, the saline properties of the water rendering the stock perfectly healthy.

THE FENCING
is thorough, and of the best description of stone walls and post, rail, and wire, the subdivisions being suitably arranged and economical for working the stock. The contour of the land is undulating, with lightly wooded rises, interspersed with rich arable valleys and grassy flats. About 2000 acres of the land are wooded moderately, and the balance consists of open plains, adapting it especially to the requirements of the merino sheep.

THE BUILDINGS
comprise substantial stone residence, with garden and grounds, all necessary stabling, and drafting and other yards, out-offices, &c., and a substantial stone woolshed capable of accommodating 28 shearers. Perfect sheepwash, 5 jets, centrifugal pump, and there are two dams.
A special advantage exists in Barwidgee from the fact of its being in one compact block, nearly square in figure.
The well-known stations of "BOORTKOI" (Manifold), "CHATSWORTH," "CARAMUT ESTATE" (The Misses METE" (Bayles), "MERRANG" (Hood), and "MINJAH" (Ware), all bound Barwidgee.
☞ The auctioneers desire specially to attract the attention of breeders in the Riverina, North-eastern, and Wimmera districts to this fine property; its acquirement would enable them to send down their sheep for fattening in the autumn, when fat stock are at high rates throughout the colony. For a stud station it has no superior, as the stations above quoted are celebrated throughout Australasia for their highly bred sheep, large prices having frequently been given for them for export to Queensland and elsewhere.

can be taken at valuation, or can be sold by auction, at buyer's option.
THE TERMS will be liberal, to be stated at sale.
PLANS are in preparation, and can be inspected shortly at the [illegible] principal centres of the colonies.

DARLING HARBOUR RAILWAY, PYRMONT.

RICHARDSON and WRENCH have received instructions from the proprietors to sell by public auction on FRIDAY, 19th MAY, at 11 o'clock,

The leases for 99 years of the few remaining valuable building allotments, fronting HARRIS, PYRMONT, ALLEN, CAMDEN, and FIG STREETS, immediately opposite the proposed NEW PUBLIC WHARFS, and RESUMED RAILWAY LAND, DARLING HARBOUR.

SECTION 1.

Nos. 1 to 5.—FIVE GRAND BUSINESS SITES.

LOT 1.—A CORNER SITE, having 16 FEET frontage to HARRIS-STREET, 120 FEET frontage to ALLEN-STREET, and 16 FEET frontage to CAMDEN-STREET.

LOTS 2 to 5.—FOUR ALLOTMENTS, having each 16 FEET frontages to HARRIS-STREET, and the same frontages to CAMDEN-STREET, with depths through of 120 feet.

, Tenders for the construction of a tramway from George-street West to the end of Harris-street have been called for, and it will be laid down forthwith; this will bring this locality into more immediate connection with the rest of the city.

Nos. 28 to 49.—TWENTY-TWO CHOICE BUILDING ALLOTMENTS of LAND.

LOT 49.—A CORNER SITE, having 18 feet 5 inches frontage to PYRMONT-STREET, 106 feet 4 inches frontage to FIG-STREET, and 18 feet 5 inches frontages to CAMDEN-STREET.

LOTS 28 to 48.—TWENTY-ONE ALLOTMENTS, each having 16 FEET frontage to PYRMONT-STREET, the same frontage to CAMDEN-STREET, with a depth through of 106 feet 4 inches.

, These portions front the land resumed for wharf and railway extension, and will always occupy front and commanding positions to the terminal good sheds and yards for produce.

The ABOVE-DESCRIBED 27 CHOICE CITY BUILDING ALLOTMENTS of LAND will be submitted on lease, for a little under 50 YEARS, at a GROUND RENTAL for each lot, such rental to be decided by the highest bidder on day of sale.

These sites are most favourably situated on DARLING HARBOUR, along the harbour wharf and railway extension.

They have as business sites a very large prospective value, and there is no doubt the whole of the wool, hides, tallow, hay, and other produce trade from the interior must be done in this immediate locality.

Now is the time to purchase, when the lands will go at reasonable rentals compared with the prices that will rule here a year or two hence.

The whole of the land between these lots now to be offered and the Darling Harbour Wharf and Railway, has been resumed by the Government for railway purposes, and the works will be immediately commenced, so that this is the only opportunity that will occur for securing building allotments as sites for stores, hotels, shops, and other business premises, the demand for which in this position will immediately be immense.

TERMS OF SALE—The first year's rent to be paid on the fall of the hammer, and the other payments half-yearly in advance.

The lots will be offered in such a way that the purchaser of one lot may take a limited number of consecutive lots at the rental for which the first lot is knocked down under the hammer.

A large auction plan is on view at the Rooms, and Lithographs are ready for distribution.

Mr. ATCHISON is Surveyor of the Estate.

For particulars of the LEASE apply to Hon. S. C. BROWN, Solicitor, Pitt-street, and at the Auctioneers.

POSTPONEMENT OF SALE TO MONDAY, 22nd MAY, when the whole estate will be disposed of IN ONE LOT.

By order of the EXECUTORS of the WILL of the late HENRY PRINCE, Esq.

CRAIGEND ESTATE, DARLINGHURST, comprising that First-class Commodious City Mansion, CRAIGEND HOUSE, and about FOUR ACRES AND A QUARTER OF GROUNDS, on the HEIGHTS OF DARLINGHURST, fronting Upper William-street South, Surry-street, and Craigend-terrace.

CARDS TO VIEW can be obtained on application at the Rooms.

TERMS OF SALE—20 per cent. cash deposit, the residue can remain secured on the property at 6 per cent. per annum.

RICHARDSON and WRENCH have received instructions to sell by public auction, at the Rooms, Pitt-street, on MONDAY, 22nd MAY, at 11 o'clock,

THE CRAIGEND ESTATE, DARLINGHURST.

This CITY FAMILY MANSION is massively built, principally of stone, and has a wide classically designed verandah, with porch entrance, in the east and north sides. A balcony also runs above portion of the latter. The accommodation comprises on THE GROUND FLOOR, spacious hall, dining-room 30 x 19, butler's pantry and storeroom, 5 bedrooms, kitchen with range, scullery, larder, laundry with copper and washing troughs, ironing room, &c.

And on the UPPER FLOOR, drawing-room 30 x 19, library, 4 bedrooms, dressing-room, bathroom, shower and plunge, hot and cold water.

The OUTBUILDINGS consist of a three-stall stable, harness room, double coach-house, buggy house, provender store, and large hayloft.

The GROUNDS contain an area of about FOUR ACRES AND A QUARTER, having about the following frontages:—

113½ feet to WILLIAM-STREET SOUTH
462 feet to SURRY-STREET
169½ feet to MACLEAY-STREET
30 feet to CRAIGEND-TERRACE,

the whole surrounded by a high, massively-built stone wall.

, CRAIGEND is a substantial commodious family mansion, possessing an amplitude of convenience, a perfection of comfort and domestic taste to be seen to the same extent in but few houses in the city. The GROUNDS contain a very large area of city land, and include the original large lawns, gardens, and plantations of the estate, brilliant masses of evergreens and choice flowering shrubs, intersected by carriage drives and walks, in which are extensive conservatories, striking frame, a fernery, tool house, &c.

This extensive, valuable Estate is THE LARGEST UNSUBDIVIDED FREEHOLD now obtainable in the city. It was originally selected in the early days when Sydney was in its infancy by Sir Thomas Mitchell (the then Surveyor-General of the colony) as a residence site, with that gentleman's usual eclectic taste, for its grand, picturesque position, the summit of the highest hill, a bluff cliff towering above the town, the harbour, and surrounding magnificent scenery, views from which it was impossible to build out or in any way intercept. Craigend House crowns the very apex of this charming hill, and commands landscape and panoramic views of unsurpassed extent and rare loveliness. The sale in one lot affords an unusual opportunity for securing a magnificent family mansion, with spacious, highly improved, beautiful grounds, enclosed by high, massive stone walls ensuring privacy and seclusion; or a property eligible for favourable subdivision, which would meet with ready sale at the highest current values.

PLANS and LITHOGRAPHIC VIEWS, &c., can be inspected at the Rooms.
